SPCA Official Resigns

Animal Sale Proposal Brings Howls

Any howling coming from SPCA premises at the moment is from anguished members of the humane group and not from forlorn poodles serenading the moon.

North Cowichan Coun. George Whittaker put himself in the dog house and had the SPCA brass lunging on their chains when he suggested Wednesday that animal shelters should dispose of unwanted pets by offering them to laboratories.

When Duncan SPCA president Mary Waldon said "we are working on selling animals for research now," Commander F. J. Jones, the provincial SPCA's executive director, and provincial president Cameron Webster issued policy statements condemning her attitude.

Cmdr. Jones wired Miss Waldon and Coun. Whittaker Reeves "Donald Mofson saying 'our constitution forbids relinquishing of live and dead animals.' If Coun. Whittaker was reported correctly, it will be a black day when we must rely upon sale of animals for medical research under present conditions."

The commander concluded "any wrong statements of society's policy could lead to censure by the executive body." Miss Waldon did not wait to chew this bone of contention. She resigned Wednesday night.

"It's our uncompromising view," said provincial president Webster, "that no group of persons engaged in the care of stray animals can enjoy public confidence in its work if it subsequently hands over alive or dead those animals, free or for money, for medical research."

He added that each provincial humane society in Canada is considering the problem of live animal experiments but predicted it would be years before any report is brought in.

Security 'First' In Spy Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice Dalton C. Wells said Thursday security comes first when considering what witnesses to call to open hearings of his royal commission into the Spencer affair.

"The security of this country is of more importance than the publicity of this hearing," he said after he opened Vancouver hearings.

The statement was made during clashes with Harry Rankin, lawyer of the estate of Victor G. Spencer, dismissed postal clerk and alleged Russian spy, who died last month.

The judge rejected Mr. Rankin's request that witnesses who gave the RCMP information that was submitted in evidence in Ottawa hearings be called. "That would involve disclosure of this country's intelligence methods," he replied.

British Columbia's present automobile insurance industry is wasteful, costly, non-competitive and inefficient, New Democratic Party MLA Alex Macdonald said Thursday.

In a brief to the Royal Commission on car insurance, he said the 209 companies selling car insurance in B.C. all claim to be "losing money year after year."

MERCY KILLING
If this was indeed the case, he said, "euthanasia would be a kindness."

Mr. Macdonald said competition among companies on their premium rates "may well be doubted."

COLLABORATION
He quoted from a report by the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission in May, 1960, which stated there "seems little doubt" B.C. insurance conference companies and the B.C. Underwriters' Association were in collaboration.

The report said the two organizations thus substantially reduced the price competition on automobile insurance available to car owners.

PRICE-FIXING
Mr. Macdonald also pointed out that a special committee of the Alberta legislature recommended on April 14 the Canadian Underwriters' Association be reported to the director of the Federal Combines Act for price-fixing.

The member urged the commission.

BLAST ENDS BLOCK

OTTAWA (CP)—After a blockade of a year and a half, New Democrats allowed second reading in the Commons, Thursday, of a bill to incorporate an American-controlled insurance company.

The bill, would incorporate Aetna Casualty Co. of Canada with a head office in Toronto to do business in all types of insurance except life insurance.

Four NDP members laced the private insurance business as a monopolistic, proliferating field that withdraws money from Canadians with little return on the investment.

Colin Cameron (Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands) said most insurance companies are "parasites on our economy" who funnel investment money and profits into the United States.

Incorporations of insurance companies must be approved by Parliament under a provision of the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act.

GM Shocks Detroit Cuts Car Production

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP)—The U.S. auto industry was jolted Thursday by a drop in April sales and announcement of a production cutback at General Motors, the world's largest automaker.

Some industry sources were quick to blame the drop on bad publicity resulting from the auto safety issue.

GM's brief announcement said four of its 23 assembly plants worked short time this week "to get production schedules in line with current stocks in the field."

It was the first time in five years GM slowed its production pace for inventory reasons. There had been previous slow-downs or shutdowns in various GM units, but these were due to supplier strikes or a railway strike.

Disclosure that three GM plants—Chevrolet in Ypsilanti, Mich., and Van Nuys, Calif., and a GM assembly plant in South Gate, Calif.—worked only three days this week, while an Atlanta, Ga., plant was on four days, came as a surprise to the rest of the industry.

REGULAR WEEK

American Motors has been plagued by such shutdowns in recent months but it worked a regular five-day week this time. While GM was having difficulties Chrysler was on a five day week and Ford had 10 of its 17 assembly plants listed for overtime work this Saturday.

NO OVERTIME
General Motors of Canada Ltd. said at Oshawa, Ont., Thursday it is not planning to institute shortened work weeks to match a move announced by its parent company.

A spokesman said, however, its assembly lines have not been working on overtime recently.

GM's Canadian car production this year to April 30 declined to 113,496 units from 143,953 in the similar 1965 period.

GM spokesmen here said there was no indication whether the short-work-week would be repeated next week. Under terms of its contract with the United Auto Workers, the company must notify the union by today if it plans to put any units on short time next week.

GM's Fisher body and Chevrolet assembly plants at Janesville, Wis., meanwhile, said they would close down one day later this month, probably May 27, to give workers a four-day holiday weekend.

Canadians Want Nader
Ralph Nader, Washington lawyer who electrified industry with our safety charges, will be invited to appear before the Commons justice committee, it was learned Thursday.

A Choice For Canada—will be on the bookstand Saturday.

BOMB IN DESK RIPS FACTORY

MONTREAL (CP)—A 63-year-old woman was killed and eight other persons were injured—three severely—when an explosion ripped through the ground floor of a shoe factory in east end Montreal Thursday.

A spokesman for the Montreal police said the explosion definitely was caused by a time bomb, made up of four sticks of dynamite.

The spokesman said the bomb was placed in a desk drawer and probably was intended to go off when no one was in the office.

The explosion came at lunch-time, while many of the firm's employees were out of the factory.

Chinese N-Blast 'In Days'

TOKYO (UPI)—China will explode its third nuclear bomb some time between Friday and next Tuesday, chief cabinet secretary Tomihiro Hashimoto predicted to the Japanese cabinet Friday.

Hashimoto based his prediction on weather conditions in the vicinity of Lake Lop Nor, the probable test site.

Germans Ousted, Ghanaians Stuck

BERLIN (UPI)—Communist East Germany said Thursday it had forbidden more than 350 Ghanaian students and members of a Ghana trade mission to leave Germany in the aftermath of the overthrow of president Kwame Nkrumah.

Ernst-Otto Schwabe, spokesman for the East German foreign ministry, said the Communists were preventing the Ghanaians from returning to the west in retaliation against the new regime in Accra for expelling an East German trade mission in Ghana.

"We regret . . . that through the arbitrary measures of the Ghanaian authorities we have been forced to take corresponding steps against Ghanaian citizens . . . and prevent their leaving," Schwabe said.

He said the "responsibility . . . lies fully and entirely" with the new government of the African republic.

Ghanaian trade mission director James Mensa-Bonsu said there was no restriction on the movements of Ghanaian citizens within East Germany. "We are just not allowed to go to the west—not even West Berlin."

Sharp Claims Door Closed

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp asserted Thursday that Canada will not serve as a "back door" for any U.S. companies seeking trade with China and Cuba.

Sharp, who negotiated a 1963 trade agreement that resulted in the sale of over $500,000,000 worth of wheat to the Soviet Union, made that remark at a press conference here.

Atkinson

'Brady Killer' —Judge

By JOHN CHADWICK

CHESTER, England (Reuters)—The judge told a murder court here Thursday night there was the clearest evidence that 28-year-old clerk Ian Brady struck with an axe and strangled a youth in his home in a premeditated killing.

Judge Fenton Atkinson addressed the 12-man jury as the three-week trial of Brady, and his blonde mistress Myra Hindley, 23, neared its end.

LONELY MOOR

Both were accused of three murders.

They pleaded not guilty of murdering the youth, Edward Evans, 17, and John Kilbride, 12, and Lesley Ann Downey, 10. The two children were found buried on a lonely moor near Brady's home at Hyde, Manchester. Judge Fenton said:

"If—and I underline the word if—what the prosecution says is right, you are dealing here with two sadistic killers of the utmost depravity."

FAIR TRIAL

The judge said the pair had a fair trial and must get a just verdict, unwavering by the strong emotions the "horrible" case aroused throughout Britain. He told the jury to return their verdict solely on the evidence.

But he added: "You must set aside any idea that Brady or Hindley are mentally abnormal and not responsible for their actions."

Gordon Issues Sharp Challenge

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A manifesto of economic nationalism advocating close government inspection of foreign subsidiaries in Canada and a stiff business takeover tax, has been written by former finance minister Walter Gordon.

A Choice For Canada—will be on the bookstand Saturday.

Mr. Gordon contends Canada is fast becoming a satellite of the United States. If the process continues, it will mean doom for the nation.

He has harsh words for the "defeatists" who issue the "persuasive and insidious"

views that economic union with the United States is inevitable. "In my view complete economic union with the United States would be a disaster for Canada. We would be swallowed up . . ."

In the kind of circumstances that would be created as a result of economic union, it is highly unlikely that Canada would continue to exist for very long in any real sense as an independent political unit.

Mr. Gordon stated his main theme early in the book: "It is in our best interests to make sure the United States does not acquire an overwhelming control over our industry, our River oil fields to the lower mainland and U.S. refineries in Washington state.

Cpl. Hollis, going over a map with the assistance of Commission Counsel J. J. Robinette, said some of the pictures taken by Spencer during the trip showed pumping stations and valve houses along the pipeline.

In his transcript of testimony taken in Ottawa in April, Assistant Commissioner Kelly said such information would "fit into Russian intelligence service sabotage requirements if and when they thought this was necessary."

Another witness, Jack Webster, radio station CKNW commentator, testified that last March he had paid Spencer $1,500 for a one-hour and 52-minute interview, part of which formed a CKNW radio broadcast and part of which went into the making of a CBC production on Spencer on the TV program This Hour Has Seven Days.

He said the $1,500 was paid by him as head of Webster Productions Co. But he also had advanced Spencer $100 in expenses after persuading him to accompany him to Vancouver Island to "keep him out of the reach of other reporters and radio men."

Mr. Justice Wells earlier told Mr. Rankin: "I propose to reach my opinion on the evidence I have heard. In an inquiry of this kind I can act on hearsay, but it will comfort you at all, I don't think I will have to act on hearsay."

Mr. Rankin said at the close of Thursday's hearing that he had no witnesses he wished to call.

Mr. Robinette indicated that the hearing would wind up today after which Mr. Justice Wells will return to Ottawa to write his report to the government.

In his evidence RCMP Assistant Commissioner W. H. Kelly, director of security and intelligence, said Spencer's actions fitted into a program of espionage. Spencer's statement said he performed a number of assignments for the Russian embassy and he eventually suspected he was being used as an agent.

Mr. Justice Wells is investigating Spencer's dismissal from the post office after allegations were made of his spying for the Russians.

Other testimony was that Spencer felt he was unfairly dealt with when he was dismissed without pension, that he had told friends he had made mistakes but did not mention what they were and that he had made trips to Ottawa. A doctor said Spencer went through a "psychological crisis" after having a cancerous lung removed last year.

The main discussion in the morning sitting revolved round the 99-page transcript of evidence taken last month in Ottawa.

would provide compensation for all traffic victims, regardless of their liability or fault, and regardless of whether they were pedestrians or motorists, drivers or passengers in a car.

In addition to providing insurance, a government board would undertake to suspend the licences of reckless drivers, or those refusing to take special training; operate safety courses, including a program for young drivers, and report on all unsafe road conditions.

EXHAUST FUMES
The board could even go as far as to provide study of special problems, such as the amount of air pollution caused by car exhaust fumes.

On the subject of compensation regardless of fault, Mr. Macdonald said one of the prime purposes of car insurance "should be providing compensation for all victims of accidents... not just compensation for the drivers or owners of the vehicles concerned."

NEGLECTED
Mr. Macdonald said private companies can only have the interest of shareholders at heart—not the victims of traffic accidents.

"It does not matter to the victim whether the vehicle that hit him was driven by a 15- or 60-year-old person, whether it was the fault of one individual or another, or whether a driver was drunk or sober."

People involved in traffic mishaps should not have to spend time and money on litigation, he said.

He pointed out that private insurance companies spent 33 cents out of every premium dollar on earnings and expenses during the five years "before the recent increase of 20 per cent and more in premium rates."

SOME DEPOSED
By comparison, the Saskatchewan government car insurance plan calls for only 18 cents out of every premium dollar for costs.

Up against stiff cross-examination by counsel for insurers, Mr. Macdonald said he could see where a government plan such as the one he proposed would eat heavily into the business of insurance agents, and in some cases dispose people from their jobs.

However, a government plan would automatically create jobs as well, he said.

The real deterrent to accidents, he felt, was not in applying a heavy premium to those people in certain age groups (for instance those under 25 or over 60), but in the court action that would follow as a result of a driver's liability in an accident.

Mr. Macdonald said, he felt there should be "something close to a standard premium, with a review of the driver's right to drive if necessary."

The commission, headed by Mr. Justice R. A. B. Wootton, adjourned its Victoria hearings early Thursday evening, and will meet again at a later date in Vancouver.

Tonsils Fight Infection But May Be Doing Harm

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: My 19-year-old son is a mouth breather, and has had large tonsils since childhood. He also has sinus trouble.

Is it dangerous for tonsils to be removed at his age?—MRS. J.R.

No, and it may be very wise of you to consider having it done—subject, of course, to your physician's counsel.

Tonsils are part of our defense against infection, especially in the young. Therefore tonsils shouldn't be removed indiscriminately "just to get rid of them."

The test is whether the tonsils are doing more harm than good. We commonly think of having two tonsils. In reality there are seven in a ring around the throat opening, those on either side of the throat being the most obvious. Those up behind the nose are adenoids—yet still tonsil tissue.

True, some individuals have larger tonsils than others normally, but in most cases enlargement is the result of infection. Sometimes after an infection has been subdued, the tonsils subside in size and may better be left in. Again, the tonsils may themselves become a source of further bouts of infection.

As to the adenoids, when enlarged they can obstruct both breathing and proper drainage of nasal secretions; can cause mouth breathing which is not good for a person quite aside from not looking good; can alter timbre of voice; can be a source of infection; can contribute considerably to sinus trouble.

By long habit, we think about tonsils in youngsters, and often forget about them when a child is older or a person is grown. I repeat, Mrs. J.R., that you may well be thinking in the right direction as to the way to help your son.

Voting Plans Hit Snag In Viet Nam

SAIGON (Reuters) — Preparations for a national election in South Viet Nam hit a snag Thursday when a civilian planning committee clashed with the military government over the body's authority.

Some committee members were involved in what the official Vietnamese press agency called a "lively argument" with Interior Minister Tran Minh Tiet over its exact status and authority in paving the way for a national election, originally scheduled for mid-August.

In Saigon the first meeting of the 32-man committee, formed to draft a national election law, ended after 3½ hours following demands that the administration provide it with a firm legal basis for its work.

As the representatives clashed with the government in Saigon, a crowd at a large Roman Catholic rally in Da Nang heard speakers criticize the activities of the Buddhist-led "revolutionary struggle force" which last month led demonstrations calling for a return to civilian rule.

They called on the government to publish a formal decree confirming the committee's responsibilities.

Government sources said Premier Nguyen Cao Ky signed such a decree last weekend, but some speakers at Thursday's session complained that it was not formally issued.

Tiet said he would discuss the matter with Ky and called a temporary halt to the talks.

VIET CONG RINGED

Meanwhile, the Associated Press quoted a U.S. spokesman as saying American and South Vietnamese forces have forged a double ring around 300-400 Viet Cong in a valley in central Viet Nam.

Economic Sanctions 'Effective'

OTTAWA (CP) — Force will not be necessary for a solution to the Rhodesian problem, External Affairs Minister Martin said Thursday.

He told the Commons external affairs committee that the economic sanctions against the white-supremacist government of Rhodesia are proving to be very effective.

Checkoff Laws Have Loophole

Trade Unions in B.C. may have found a way around the controversial Bill 42, the provincial law that sought to stop union dues being used for political purposes.

Vancouver labor lawyer Tom Berger, after a study of the act, has reported that while union dues cannot be used for political purposes, they are considered "ordinary income" once they pass to labor councils or the B.C. Federation of Labor in the form of per capita or other payments.

Mr. Berger's opinion, passed Wednesday, also states that the B.C. Federation of Labor, local labor councils and other associations of trade unions are not

'Seven Days' Among Budget Cuts

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons broadcasting committee was told Thursday the CBC will spend between $300,000 and $400,000 more on public affairs programs next season.

At the same time, the budget for This Hour Has Seven Days and associated programs would be cut by $30,000 to $1,423,465.

The information was provided by CBC Vice-President H. G. Walker under questioning by MPs.

SUCCESSFUL

Mr. Walker said the Seven Days television program has had a successful season, along with public affairs programs generally, and he gave due credit to Reeves Haggan, supervisor of public affairs programs.

He blamed "middle management" for allowing a dispute between Seven Days personnel and CBC management to explode into a national controversy.

Mr. Walker said top management is studying the actions of those in "middle management" who had largely caused the Seven Days dispute.

'AXE WILL FALL'

They either would get a vote of confidence or "the axe will fall."

Several committee members complained Patrick Watson and Laurier LaPierre, scheduled to be dropped as the Seven Days hosts, are being blamed for the fallings of others.

They said the hosts read a script and film of their interviews in advance. The show had cost $54,000 although its budget had been set at $19,000.

Mr. Southam's case currently was being reviewed.

Toronto Mayor Witness For Nazi

TORONTO (UPI) — Toronto Mayor Philip Givens could have spent Thursday afternoon in a sunny baseball stadium pitching the first ball for the season's first home-game. Instead he was confined to a dingy crown attorney's office and a witness stand of a Toronto courtroom.

Mayor Givens was subpoenaed on April 21 (Adolf Hitler's birthday) by Canadian self-styled Nazi leader, William John Beattie, to appear Thursday as a defence witness in Beattie's trial on a charge of unlawful assembly.

Reeve Airing Pleas

Sidney and North Saanich councils may soon be invited to contribute financially to meet an emergency at Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals.

Reeve R. Gordon Lee of Central Saanich has been asked to discuss the matter of a contribution with both Sidney and North Saanich councils.

The two areas have not been included in the proposed cost-sharing arrangement for the two hospitals' emergency needs, because they are not members of the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Committee.

BEST HAVEN

Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney was afforded the opportunity, following the defeat of the hospital money bylaw referendum, to request emergency aid.

The hospital's administrator agreed, however, that there was a more acute situation in the city hospitals and he could afford to forego assistance at this time.

Mr. Walker said it appears the judgment of CBC management has rarely been applied to the screening of the Seven Days program content.

He listed four items that have been dropped from the show in the last two years on orders of the management:

● A sequence showing a 17-year-old girl in bed with two youths, filmed last July in a Toronto apartment. The CBC has asked the RCMP to investigate whether the girl was under the influence of drugs at the time.

● A 1964 satirical sketch about Queen Elizabeth.

● An interview with a French beauty queen about beauty contests in general. This segment was cut out because the CBC feared legal action by the rival CTN network, which had exclusive rights to telecast the Miss Canada beauty pageant.

● A film segment in which servative associate defence minister, answered his door and was asked without warning about his relationship with Gerda Munsinger.

Mr. Walker said this was a gross invasion of privacy.

The witness, who is in charge of English TV and radio network programming, said CBC management objected to frequent "snide jokes" at American policies in Viet Nam. This was misleading and biased.

He said Wilson Southam, a CBC Ottawa producer, was suspected because he produced a satire on the opening of Parliament that was not good and cost too much. The show had cost $54,000 although its budget had been set at $19,000.

Mr. Southam's case currently was being reviewed.

Church Union Nearer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Representatives of eight large Christian denominations Thursday agreed on the rudiments for forming a united church.

Leaders praised the action as a turning point towards overcoming age-old divisions in U.S. Protestantism.

The inter-denominational gathering adopted a compilation of specific "principles" for church union, embracing broad accords on matters of faith, worship, sacraments and ministry.

It is designed to serve as the foundation for development of a detailed plan. This, along with the necessary authorizations by denominational conventions, is expected to take at least five years.

But the decisions here provided the first concrete guidelines for the undertaking. It would unify Protestant bodies of varying backgrounds and traditions with a total of more than 24,000,000 members.

STILL, FACE ISSUES

Denominations involved are: Episcopalians (Anglicans), Methodists, United Presbyterians, Southern Presbyterians, Evangelical United Brethren, African Methodist Episcopal Church, Christian (Disciples) Churches, and the United Church (including congregationalists).

Johnson Starts Drive

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson launched the government Thursday on a long-term drive to wipe out organized crime. He called it "guerrilla war against society."

Johnson recognized that the job would not be easy. "There will be no instant victory," he said, but added that an alliance of federal, state and local police forces can lick the underworld.

The president made the remarks after a White House meeting to discuss the administration's redoubled anti-crime campaign. Present were officials who will lead the drive, including Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach and FBI director J. Edgar Hoover.

Johnson said he wanted Katzenbach to be the focal point for the attack. He was given the responsibility of rallying all the government agencies concerned with crime, including the FBI, the treasury and the internal revenue service.

In his statement, Johnson said earlier wars on the underworld had shown results. "Federal prosecutions in organized crime have risen from 17 in 1960 to 491 last year," he said.

Hydro Plan Doubled

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Bale d'Espoir hydro-electric development on the southwest coast of Newfoundland is to be doubled in size at an additional cost of between $65,000,000 and $88,000,000, Premier Smallwood announced Thursday.

The premier told a press conference here that 300,000 horsepower would be added to the output of the giant generating station by bringing additional water sources into play. An immediate start on the expansion was to be made and the project now was to be turning out 800,000 horsepower after an outlay of $135,000,000 by 1970.

Approval Sought For Auto Pact

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Thursday sought Commons approval of the auto parts agreement with the United States signed Jan. 18, 1965.

Industry Minister Drury, in a figure-packed speech, said the agreement "is one of the most important and imaginative trading arrangements ever made between our two countries."

Its success had been "more than amply demonstrated" by new investments, increased employment, expanded production, greater efficiency, higher exports and less difference between the price of a car in the U.S. and Canada.

OVER-RULED

The debate will continue today.

Conservatives, with NDP support, twice tried to amend the resolution. The chairman overruled the first attempt and indicated he would do the same with the second today.

The first amendment proposed that the agreement go to a House standing committee for discussion. The second would mean that the agreement couldn't be renewed in 1968 without prior parliamentary consent.

The agreement allows Canadian-made motor vehicles and original parts to enter the U.S. duty-free.

IMPORTS

Canadian auto manufacturers may import U.S. vehicles and parts duty-free under some specific requirements.

Mr. Drury's appeal for strong support of a resolution ratifying the agreement was to be followed by opposition comment.

Earlier, two minor pieces of legislation were passed.

EXEMPT B.C. FISHERMEN

One extends, for collective bargaining purposes, the exemption of British Columbia fishermen from prosecution under the Combines Act.

The other tidies up the division of responsibilities between the national research Council and the new Science Council of Canada.

Mr. Drury said the auto agreement in its first 12 months has increased employment in the industry by 10,500 and resulted in plans for 69 new plants.

EXPANSIONS

Another 136 plants had expanded or announced plans to do so.

Canadian production in 1965 totalled 855,000 motor vehicles, a 27.5-per-cent increase over 1964.

Export of automotive products to all countries in 1965 amounted to $362,000,000, a 94 per-cent increase over 1964 and a 275-per-cent increase over 1963.

IMBALANCE

This included $231,000,000 worth of exports to the U.S. compared with $99,000,000 in 1964.

The imbalance in auto trade alone would have been $185,000,000 in 1965 if Canadian exports had continued at the 1962 level. Instead it was $19,000,000.

One large motor vehicle manufacturer had bought $130,000,000 more from Canadian parts producers in 1965 than it had the previous year.

CUSTOMS

Barriers to a free flow of Canadian autos and parts to the U.S. were being removed.

But deeply-rooted customs in the industry couldn't be changed in a few months, Mr. Drury said. U.S. purchasing agents for years had bought all their parts from the U.S. industry.

"Until the automotive program, they hardly ever considered parts producers in Canada as a source of supply."

Mr. Drury said senior representatives of the industry have told the government appropriate steps have been taken to give Canadian producers equal opportunity to compete.

American Finds Ancient Writings

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Archaeologist Prof. George Mendall, sifting the ruins of an ancient fortress near Amman, Jordan, has uncovered what may be the oldest Arabic inscriptions yet found, the University of Michigan said Thursday.

Play Funny Peculiar

By E. D. EDWARD-HARRIS
Campus Players' revival of Eugene Ionesco's Rhinoceros is yet another attempt to interest Victoria audiences in the Theatre of the Absurd.

Absurd, according to my dictionary, means "plainly inconsistent with or opposed to sense or reason." Funny peculiar, therefore, instead of funny ha-ha!

I have heard it said that if one cannot see anything funny in Theatre of the Absurd one must remain unaffected by the antics of the Marx Brothers. This is ridiculous.

IRREVERENCE
They united their audiences in laughter by violating a recognizable pattern of behavior. Their humor was irreverence for the reasonable, a poking of fun at a stable world.

Theatre of the Absurd contains nothing coherent or stable, only simultaneous instabilities.

UNROOTED, UNREAL
With everyone concerned deliberately unrooted, irrelevant and unreal, there can be no firm comic effect because there is nothing in their relationships that is incongruous.

Irrelevance is funny because it's irrelevant to something.

In Rhinoceros, as in all Theatre of the Absurd, we see what we believe to be comedy, are tempted to laugh, then, uncertain whether there is a substance of comedy, we hold back waiting for clarity which never comes.

DENIES SUBSTANCE
Ionesco is the high priest of this avant-garde cult. His purpose apparently is to deny substance altogether which must laughter is a lunatic response.

If the dramatist achieves his purpose of deliberate obscurantism the person who sits glumly in the one who understands, and he who roars with laughter misses the point.

POINT MISSED
Monday night's audience at the Phoenix Theatre largely missed the point.

In Rhinoceros all the people but one in a small French town surrender to the impulse to become rhinoceroses.

'NO REAL EVIL'

When the one man who retains his humanness wistfully begs a friend to hang on to his mind and not join the herd, he counters with: "There's no real evil in doing what comes naturally," and: "If you're going to criticize, it's better to do it from within."

The point is provocative but is not followed through. There are some funny lines, patches of "bright" polished philosophy. Acres of lines spoken by surrealistic people, and in the end, deliberately nothing.

NO MESSAGE

The dramatist is non-committal, non-committed. He has no message for us, unless it is the creed of non-involvement.

Throughout the evening I had the disquieting feeling that Ionesco was sneering at us, cast and audience alike. That far from poking gentle fun at the human race, he despises it.

"It's not that I hate people," says one character, "I'm just indifferent to them—or rather they disgust me, and they're better keep out of my way or I'll run them down."

In that Ionesco himself speaking?

I was prepared to believe that the futile situations and meaningless arguments "The fact that I despise religion doesn't mean that I don't esteem it highly" pointed out the idiocy of contemporary life.

But for this to be so it was essential that we be shown that the one man (Berenger) refusing to join the rhinoceros herd had a real mind. This is not done.

LESSER MAN

He is a weak little alcoholic clerk, a lesser man than his fellows. His role is underwritten and lacks color or distinction. With this nothing of a man, the thesis collapses.

Direction and casting by Robert Hedley are first class. And it shows that rehearsal and still more rehearsal pays. The entire cast, freed from mechanical worries, moves and behaves with naturalness and polish, able to concentrate on projection.

ALIVE, VIBRANT

The key role of Berenger, the clerk who remains human, is played by Harry Hill, who accepted the role at short notice. His performance, particularly in the last act, was alive and vibrant.

Mr. Hill, an actor of great ability, builds his moods with ease, passing from tension to TAKE NOTICE that His Honour The Lieutenant-Governor in Council has been pleased to appoint the following persons, namely:

Mr. Justice Robert Alexander Burnie Wootton,
Dr. Peter Alfred Lusztig, and

- whether such a variation or a plan for compensation or such a combination, if recommended, should be administered privately or by or through a governmental department or a governmental agency or a combination thereof, and

Donald McKay, 23, 628 Davida, was found guilty in central court Thursday of dangerous driving after police described a three-mile chase at speeds estimated at more than 100 miles an hour.

McKay will be sentenced May 16 after a probation report.

A police witness said that at one point in the chase McKay "didn't get much below 80, but at times went well above it."

PEOPLE NEAR

A police car gave chase at 1:45 a.m. Tuesday after a car went past Coffee Mac's at Douglas and Gorge at more than the speed limit as "a number of persons" were milling about in the vicinity.

The chase ended three miles later, court was told, after the chased car "seemed to go" out of control "several times," crossing the centre line and reaching the gravel shoulder on each side of Burnside.

Police said McKay said he believed "the hot rodders were after me" and that the sound of the siren was their engines' superchargers.

TEEN-AGER

The preliminary hearing of David Manhas, 750 Queens, with indecent assault, ended with Magistrate William Ostler reserving decision on commitment until 10 a.m. today.

At the end of the hearing, however, Magistrate Ostler told Manhas' counsel, "I must commit."

The formal decision was put back to today while bail was arranged.

He is charged with the indecent assault of Sheila Jones, 18, also of the 700-block Queens.

Philip Manhas, 17, of 1037 Pendergast, told court he saw a woman being "hit around" about March 26 and finally, "struggling and screaming" pushed into a car by a man whom he "only noticed had dark skin."

He said the car in which he was riding on View then returned to where the occupants had seen a policeman and gave the officer the licence number of the car into which he said the woman was pushed.

"SCREAMED" Under a cross-examination, Manhas said he "didn't see the man hit or slap her but she screamed so that I thought he had hit her."

Sixteen-year-old James Haskell of 1028 Pendergast said he was the driver of the car in which Manhas was a passenger. He said he saw a white car stop and saw a man run across the street "to this girl who was wearing a red coat."

"TERRIFYING"

"The girl had been pushed into this car which in the meantime had been turned around," he said.

"Her screams were a loud and terrifying noise." He told court he saw the "white Thunderbird" later carrying the driver and two persons in the back, one "a girl leaning over sideways."

Under cross-examination Haskell repeated he saw a woman pushed into a car but said he didn't know how she was pushed or whether she entered forward or backward.

Ronald Rolls, 21, 2980 Glen Lake Road, was fined $350 when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving on Esquimalt Road early Thursday.

Police said he was seen travelling at high speed and weaving from side to side of the road.

Dennis Dunbar, 529 Comerford, pleaded guilty to luring by night, explaining that he was out for a walk as he "didn't sleep much."

He was remanded to May 12 for sentence.

Police said a passing citizen saw Dunbar looking to a ground-floor window of a residence at 612 Nelson.

Sharp Sways to 'Gordonism'

By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA — Finance Minister Sharp's economic manifesto, which he unveiled to the Association of Canadian Advertisers at Toronto, was a "hot piece" thing contrived to make him look as both Liberals and Conservatives have put it — more "Gordonian."

The idea was to pull him in a bit from right field where he played as a small "C" conservative financial practitioner and liberalize his economic image more in the tradition of former finance minister Walter Gordon.

Gordon still has a hefty following in the party both in parliament and in the party.

REVOLT

It was only a few weeks ago that Gordon led something of a rank and file revolt in the Liberal Commons caucus against Sharp's plans to jack up the ceiling in interest rates for the chartered banks.

Mr. Sharp's "manifesto" or 10-point plan:

- Utilize the full armory of powers of federal and provincial governments to maintain a high and stable level of employment with rising personal incomes through increased productivity.
- Provide attractions to keep young Canadians at work in Canada through development of the arts and a vigorous society.

- Maintain a federal system of government in which responsibility, power and money is properly shared among the various levels of government.
- Reduce Canada's dependence on foreign capital by generating more domestic savings and channelling them into investment in productive Canadian enterprises.

- Encourage foreign-owned subsidiaries in Canada to act as good corporate citizens, making a proper disclosure to the public of their financial structures and operating results.
- Encourage Canadian-owned enterprises to keep their head offices in Canada, and encourage Canadian investors to put their money into Canadian enterprises.

- Use the proposed Canada Development Corp. as an active agent in the promotion of Canadian development and industrialization under Canadian control and management, and not just as an investment fund buying outstanding securities.

- Ensure that Canadian banks, insurance and trust companies, railways, airlines, and major communications media, like radio, television and newspapers, remain predominantly under Canadian control.
- Seeing that industries exploiting natural resources on the export market process their products to the furthest extent possible in Canada on an efficient and profitable basis.

- Contemplate no general free trade or customs union with the United States but achieve economic independence on broad lines through the non-discriminatory approach which underlies the General Association on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

Thursday in the Commons, Conservative Leader Diefenbaker and Prime Minister Pearson discussed the Sharp manifesto in relation to the new Gordon book, A Choice for Canada.

In the book, Gordon challenges government by inference, Sharp's complacency and slow crawl down the road to active social reform and vigorous economic nationalism.

U.S. INFLUENCE

Mr. Diefenbaker asked whether the Sharp manifesto represents anything new, or any new viewpoint, in government policy. "And whether, in view of the minister's strictures against foreign control and the possibility of the growing curtailment of Canadian independence, the government has any further steps in mind to remove the influence of United States guidelines from firms operating in Canada?"

Replied Mr. Pearson: "I can say that the minister's statement was, I thought, a clear expression of existing government policy in this field."

Then Mr. Diefenbaker asked if the suggestion was true that the Sharp manifesto had been devised and so timed as to steal the national spotlight from what he called "the Gordon concept" as outlined in A Choice for Canada.

GRITS APPLAUSE

At the mere mention of Gordon and the book, there was a great burst of Liberal applause.

"I congratulate the former finance minister on the wide spread support he still enjoys in the Liberal party," beamed Mr.

Diefenbaker, jabbing a needle into Sharp and his followers.

Mr. Pearson's answer was revealing: "Naturally I would like to do everything I could with propriety to advertise the book, but I am afraid I cannot comment on the interpretation given to the speech in relationship to the book."

By this time the followers of both the rivals — Sharp and Gordon — were beating their desk-tops, so it was impossible to tell just which of the aspirants for the future Liberal leadership enjoys the largest following in the government caucus.

But this byplay aside, there is Scouts Plan Dance

Fifth Camosun (Oaklands) Scouts will hold a dance for adults and teenagers at 9 p.m. today, to help raise money to send members to the Scout Jamboree in Penitence this summer.

The dance, in St. Alban's hall on Ryan Street, is the last fundraising venture of the campaign. The troop's ladies' auxiliary will hold a fun fair in St. Alban's Church hall from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Prices Hit New Record

OTTAWA (CP) — The consumer price index rose by eight-tenths of a point during April to a record 143.2, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

Increased food costs and an increase in the Ontario provincial sales tax to five per cent from three were mainly responsible. All seven sections of the index were up.

The index, based on 1949 consumer prices equalling 100, had stood at 141.2 in January, 142.1 in February and 142.4 in March, the previous high. The April figure was four per cent higher than in the same month of last year.

There is no exactly parallel index of incomes. But an index of industrial wages and salaries, based on 1961 equalling 100, was at 116.9 in December, latest figure available.

April food prices moved the food section of the index to 143.7 from 143.4.

Every year, cars change and improve. It's a fact of life. But one car, the Ford, has improved so remarkably, you keep hearing about it. When you drive one you'll realize why.

First thing you'll notice is the quiet ride. Owners of the world's finest cars are amazed by it. It results from a combination of the strongest body Ford has ever made and an improved suspension that tunes out vibration, harshness and road noise. In the new Ford you travel in a world of quiet quality. You travel luxuriously. These new Fords are lavishly appointed. Even the inexpensive Custom Sedans have wall-to-wall carpeting.

When you get on the road, you'll discover just how lively all the new Fords are. The newest 345 hp 7-Litre V-8 will please every performance-minded driver and the economical 150 hp Big Six is the answer for any driver who wants responsive power with economy.

N.Y. Stocks Plunge

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market received its worst pounding Thursday since President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963.

The Dow Jones Industrial average plunged 15.09 to 899.77, marking its lowest point since the death of Kennedy, when it fell 21.16.

This brought the Dow Industrial average to its lowest point since Sept. 1 when they closed at 893.60.

The list was advancing cautiously and moderately at the end of the first hour Thursday when news came that General Motors was cutting back production at four of its car assembly plants because of lower sales and high inventories.

The stock rise immediately halted and the list began to turn down. By noon the ticker tape was running 11 minutes late as stocks were dumped.

Prices recovered a bit above their lows in early afternoon, but the rally lacked enthusiasm and soon stalled. A second wave of selling got underway and prices were pared to their worst of the day with the ticker running seven minutes late at the close.

Lows for the year tallied 109, high four.

Volume was 10,000,000 shares compared with 9,740,000 Wednesday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 4.4 to 332.1.

Market analysts said although the GM cutbacks triggered the decline, there was no special surprise because GM's decline in sales and other bearish news have been driving the stock down to a series of lows. Its stock fell a point at 88, another low.

This was moderate compared with losses of 13% for Chicago Western, 16% Admiral, 20% Motorola, 8% Magnavox, 7% Texas Instruments, 7% Braniff, 13% Delta Airlines, 11% Teletype and 10% IBM.

Among Canadian stocks, International Nickel fell 2 points, Alcan 1% and Canadian Pacific 1%.

Prices also fell on the American Stock Exchange.

Scurry Rainbow Oil tumbled 3 points and Preston Mines 1%.

B.C. Tel Drops

MONTREAL (CP) - B.C. Telephone dropped 3/4 points to a 1966 low of 66 as stocks gave ground on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges. Bell was down 1/2% to 53%.

An exchange official said the reason was the board of transport commissioner's announcement Wednesday limiting the companies' earnings. Among the other utilities C.P.R. declined 1 1/2 points to 50% and Interprovincial Pipe Line one point to 81.

The index fell 2.37 at a 1966 low of 142.67.

Seven issues were off a point or more as the composite index suffered its worst decline in 1966 dropping 2.04 at 156.77. The 1966 low is 154.67. Declines outnumbered advances 113 to 53. The industrial index dropped 2.29 at 154.40.

Papers were off 1.05 at a 1966 low of 118.53. MacMillan Bloedel and Powell River slid 1/4 to 26%.

Great Lakes and Domtar fell 1/4 to 27% and 18%.

Banks jumped 0.42 at 121.28, Canadian Imperial Commerce.

New Airline Chartered

EDMONTON (CP) - Keir Air Transport Ltd., an Edmonton-based air charter firm, today became Canada's scheduled airline when a flight left Hay River, N.W.T., for Peace River, Alta.

The air transport board recently certified the company's permission to fly three times a week between the two points.

The company began as a one-plane operation four years ago and now has 13 aircraft in service.

Keir will operate on the 580-mile route from Hay River to Peace River Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Pacific Western Airlines will continue its flights over the same route Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

Peace River is 225 miles and Hay River 450 miles northwest of Edmonton.

30-Cent Dividend

CALGARY (CP) - Jefferson Lake Petrochemicals of Canada Ltd. reported net earnings of $559,793 in the first three months of the year, up 34 per cent over the same period last year.

The company said in a press release issued after its annual meeting at Toronto the 1966 figure is equivalent to net profit of 30 cents a share.

Copper Price Hiked

TORONTO (CP) - Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. has joined other Canadian copper producers in raising its European price for copper to $488 a long ton from $335. The new price is equivalent to 61 cents U.S. a pound against the 42 cents U.S. for domestic copper.

Hardly Anyone Recalls Duce's Career Highlight

ROME — Hardly anyone remembered it, but Thursday was the 30th birthday of Benito Mussolini's short-lived Ethiopian Empire.

It was May 5, 1935. Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia had just fled to Palestine by British cruiser. Italian troops had entered Addis Ababa after an eight-month campaign, the 20th Century's last colonial war of conquest.

King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy was Emperor of Ethiopia. Italy had what appeared to be a precious outlet for her excess manpower and a source of raw materials. From his balcony on the Piazza Venezia, Mussolini thundered:

"After 15 centuries the empire is returning to the fated Hills of Rome."

Only a small group of neo-Fascists in Turin remembered the anniversary. They called a commemoration rally for Sunday in a downtown movie hall, and left-wing organizations promptly asked the police to ban it as "an insult to Turin democratic workers."

In Rome, the neo-Fascist newspaper Il Secolo d'Italia did not carry a single word about what many Italians feel was the high point of Mussolini's career.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — President Lyndon Johnson flew home to his Texas ranch for a long weekend of "sunshine and a few appointments." But a misty rain greeted him upon his arrival. Johnson brought his beagles—him and the puppies Kim and Freckles, with him.

ATHENS, Ga. — Joseph Howard Sims, a Ku Klux Klansman who was tried and acquitted of murder in the night rider slaying of a Negro educator, walked into the nursery of a hospital and shot his estranged wife in the face. Sims fled from the hospital and was the target of a manhunt.

LONDON — Queen Mother Elizabeth arrived home after a seven-week tour of Australia, New Zealand and Fiji. She was met by her younger daughter Princess Margaret. During a brief stopover in Hawaii, the Queen Mother gave an impromptu exhibition of the Hawaiian hula dance—pictures of which won her wide prominence in Britain's newspapers.

PARIS — Francois Mitterand, leftist leader and former presidential candidate, unveiled a six-man "shadow cabinet" designed

Forces Cut Urged In Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said Thursday he felt the United States could reduce its troops in Europe from five to one or two divisions.

He endorsed a suggestion by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) that it would be safe to substantially cut back on U.S. forces on the continent. Mansfield said he felt one or two divisions "would be just as psychologically effective as five divisions."

"I have always felt we have been overcommitted in Europe," Mansfield told reporters in response to questions.

NO DANGER The Montana Democrat said Western Europe "must accept a great deal more of the burden and the expense of the burden" of its defence.

Symington told a news conference Wednesday that an 11-day tour he made in Europe last month showed that "several" of the U.S. divisions could be withdrawn without endangering the defence structure.

Mink Pelt $1,100

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of mink has reached a record high here, with black willow mink drawing a top bid of $1,100 for a pelt and an average pelt price of $350.18.

Barry Coward, owner of Hudson's Bay Co. Fur Sales Inc., said Wednesday the previous high was $420 paid for a rovala pink mink last year.

Murder Hearing Told

Panic Followed Fight

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man charged with murder suggested that the badly beaten victim be taken to hospital, a preliminary hearing was told Wednesday by a Crown witness.

Instead, the beating victim was taken to Stanley Park, where police discovered the battered body a day later.

Charged with the March 17 capital murder of William Darryl Bohart, 31, are Arlie Durling, 31, and Edward Dowe, 22.

Crown witness Donald Lee Hartford told of drinking and fighting that went on in a West End apartment on the night of March 17. He said he was involved in a fight with Dowe but they were stopped by others.

Hartford said that later in the evening, as he walked into the living room from the bathroom, Bohart was lying on the floor with blood coming from his nose. He said he used a towel to wipe off the blood and began to panic when Bohart didn't wake up.

HYSTERICAL He agreed that Dowe mentioned to him that they should get Bohart either to a hospital or fetch a doctor. He couldn't remember why he hadn't done this.

"All I know is that Muriel (Hartford's wife) was hysterical and for her sake I had to get him (Bohart) out of there as quickly as possible." He said he and Durling and Park.

Dowe then took Bohart down an elevator and drove to Stanley park.

Some lessons we've learned about making small cars for Canadians.

- Lesson 1. Build them in Canada. That's where the rugged weather is. Lesson 2. Watch your paint. Use 5 separate coats of Canadian primer and paint, after rustproofing the bodies 6 times. Lesson 3. Offer something unusual. Like a small car automatic for around $2,000. Lesson 4. Make it good-looking. A small car doesn't have to be ugly to be well engineered. Lesson 5. Give it a great independent suspension. Canadians have a knack for leaving the beaten path. Lesson 6. Make the seats convertible to beds. A lot of Canadians are campers. Lesson 7. Put in 4-wheel disc brakes, and offer a 4-speed synchromesh gearbox. Canadians are a sporty group. Lesson 8. Keep at least a million dollars worth of spare parts. And keep them available everywhere in Canada. Lesson 9. Put in an engine that likes to be driven hard. Canadian roads are long and Canadians like to move along. Lesson 10. Install a heater as large as most domestic big cars. Put in a booster fan and outlets for back seat passengers. Canada is a frosty country. Lesson 11. Keep your prices down and your engineering quality up. There's a lot of competition. These are lessons we've learned in Canada. This is the Renault 10 Major.

ALUMINIUM LIMITED now has a new name ALCAN ALUMINIUM LIMITED and the short of it!

ALCAN

Alcan Aluminium Limited is the new name the shareholders have just approved for the parent company of the Alcan group, formerly Aluminium Limited. The French name is Alcan Aluminium Limited, and these new names are now in effect. The main object in making "Alcan" the key word in the Company's name is to increase recognition of both the parent and its subsidiaries as an integrated international enterprise. The name ALCAN also identifies the company more closely with the products of ALCAN companies, which are sold under the widely-known ALCAN name all over the world. The trade name and mark was registered in Canada in 1945 and is owned by the Company's principal subsidiary Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd which represents some 60% of the parent company's $1.6 billion net assets. Assets of other Canadian operating subsidiaries are in excess of $80 million. Other subsidiaries, each with net assets of $10 million or more, operate in U.S.A., U.K.,

Germany, Italy, South Africa, Australia, British Guiana, Jamaica, Brazil and Argentina. These and some smaller group companies operate in a total of 30 countries. Some 31 million Common Shares are outstanding, of which approximately 31% are held by over 24,000 shareholders in Canada, and 65% by about 25,500 shareholders in the U.S.A. ALCAN is totally independent of other world aluminum producers. It has had a well-coordinated sales organization for many years and maintains sales offices in over 100 countries. With its head office in Montreal, ALCAN is one of the largest Canadian international corporations, and is the world's leader in aluminum trade.

There seems to be more optimism on the Vancouver Island fishing scene than we have noticed in a decade. This probably comes about naturally following a superior winter spring salmon season and a Gulf of Georgia, which now seems plugged with coho grilse.

The coho grilse—now the three-pound blueback size—may be found anywhere from Saanich Inlet right up to north of Campbell River and if they only stick around to grow up this should be a fabulous year for coho in east coast of Vancouver Island waters.

But, our own private prediction is that it will be rather a mediocre year for coho on the outside in Juan de Fuca Strait, although early spring salmon fishing for the lunkers might be hot.

We may be wrong about the coho—and we hope so. Early reports show a good run of bluebacks in the four to five-pound class around Bamfield, and this could be a rosy indication of things to come.

There was no commercial fishing from October to April and this could mean a tremendous spring salmon run this year. Certainly winter spring fishing was the best it has been in many years and there are plenty of springs showing up now—at Port Renfrew, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and in Saanich Inlet from McCordy Point to Stone House and down into Tlalysan Arm.

There are springs and bluffs off Tent Island and Portler Pass. Claytons of Northwest Bay report that Monday gave up the best blueback fishing they have seen in many years.

Murray Cree reports blues off Quallcum and Frank Gwilt says they have reached Bowser in fair numbers.

Pedder Bay Marina will be closed for three weeks during road and ramp construction.

Chinook Club members are reminded that in order to get in on that club's monthly trophies and the trophy for the heaviest salmon from May to September they must note their Chinook Club membership number when registering their catches.

Warm weather can do nothing but help the trout fishing. This is trout fishing weather and every lake should be worth trying. Most rivers will be a little low and clear, but big rivers like the Cowichan are producing well.

Nahmint Lake is hot for those who can get there and Woss and Schoen Lakes have been producing well.

Bass fishing is just starting, but former King Fisherman bass trophy winners Larry Kennedy and Al Coles, who have been hitting them at Prospect say deep running lures are a must. They aren't hitting the surface lures yet.

Van Isle Shooting League will hold a registered pistol tournament at the Nanaimo Fish and Game Club grounds Sunday, starting at 10 a.m.

Fisheries officials have disclosed that the 1966 herring spawn is below average for British Columbia and Fisheries Director Rod Hourston has blamed it on the efficiency of the herring seine fleet and fishing pressure. He said efficiency has increased in three ways—pit lamps, larger craft and with the use of pumps instead of bailing, weather is no longer a factor.

A crash remedial program has been recommended which would include the banning of lamps for fishing, because they help take a higher incidence of salmon and because they attract smaller-sized herring.

Areas where small herring are in abundance will be closed. Small herring are designated as under six inches or in the two-year age bracket.

Tagging has indicated that bulk of herring in the Swiftsure area come into the lower east coast waters to spawn and because of this it has been suggested that either the Swiftsure fishery be eliminated or that the lower east coast quota be reduced by the tonnage taken in the Swiftsure area.

A plan is under way to assess the abundance of herring in any area and regulate the fishery accordingly.

Vessel owners themselves have expressed concern about some "hungry" fishermen purposely fishing for baby herring. At the recent herring management committee meeting a vessel owners' representative suggested that where a seiner delivers a load with one-third the catch made up of six-inch or less fish, the whole load be confiscated and the money turned over to charity.

Fishermen themselves complained that the Bella Bella area wasn't closed when nets were taking a high incidence of grilse—as high as two tons of salmon to a herring set.

Union secretary Homer Stevens also expressed concern about the future of the herring fishery and asked for abolition of lights, a return to the quota system and that herring fishing be stopped over areas where there is a high incidence of grilse.

The lack of herring is disturbing, but it is something sports fishermen have been occurring for some years. What is encouraging is that all parties—fisheries, vessel owners, fishermen and sports fishermen—all seek to pull together to revive the herring runs, upon which both sport and commercial salmon feed.

Mount View defeated Mount Douglas, 61-55, in an inter-high school track meet at Mount View Thursday.

Robin and Heather Wood shared the spotlight for Mount View. Robin won the girls' 440 and 220-yard dashes, while Heather won the 100 and 60-yard dashes.

Mount Douglas' consolation was Steve Hume, who won the mile and 880.

In another meet, Oak Bay High School was a rude host to Brentwood College. The Bays won 98-68, by taking eight out of the nine track events and four out of six field events.

Brian Howe of Oak Bay was a first-place finisher in the pole vault and 100-yard dash.

Vital Car Parts Stolen

FOLKINGHAM, Eng. (UPI)

The theft of vital secret parts for a new British Racing Motors Co. car engine Thursday threatened the world title bids of three of England's most famous drivers.

The theft was discovered Wednesday morning by workers at BRM's test track at an unused airfield near here. The 200-mile an hour, 16-cylinder engines were to be used in BRM and Lotus cars at three international races—Silverstone, Indianapolis and Monte Carlo.

World champion driver Jim Clark was scheduled to use the 4.2 litre Lotus version of the engine on May 14 to qualify for the 500-mile Indianapolis race, which he won last year. But BRM sent a message to the head of Lotus in Indianapolis, telling them the new engine probably would not reach him in time.

BRM's entry in the Silverstone on May 14 also was in doubt.

Graham Hill and Jackie Stewart planned to use the engine in a BRM team car in the Monte Carlo race, the first of Europe's grand prix races, on May 22. Clark also planned to use the engine in this race.

The engine, reportedly developed at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars, was tested in a BRM car on Tuesday and then parts of it were stripped for cleaning and put on a tool bench.

Police have not ruled out sabotage as the motive for the theft and fingerprint experts checked the testing house for clues.

Which whisky do the Jones' really drink?

When it comes to whisky, the Jones' can afford to please themselves.

Yet they don't let others dictate their taste. They have taste of their own.

Which is why it's not surprising that so many of the Jones' drink Bonded Stock.

Gooderham's have been distilling fine whisky since 1832.

This is a smooth, mellow whisky with a flavour you don't have to disguise.

One other thing: you don't have to be one of the Jones' to appreciate Bonded Stock.

West Germans Win Soccer Cup

GLASGOW (Reuters)—The European Cup Winners Cup, Europe's second most important soccer team prize, went to West Germany for the first time Thursday night when Borussia (Dortmund) beat the English Liverpool squad 2-1 in the final at Hampden Park.

The West Germans' winning goal came 13 minutes from the end of the 30-minute overtime period after the regular 90 minutes play ended with the score 1-1.

Centre-forward Sigi Held and outside-right Stan Libuda scored for Borussia and inside-right Roger Hunt netted Liverpool's goal.

Although Liverpool had more of the play and was stronger at the finish, the Germans always seemed to be the more dangerous team, particularly in break-aways.

Warmup Victory

DUBLIN (AP)—West Germany defeated the Republic of Ireland 4-0 in an international soccer match before 20,000 at Dalymount Park Wednesday night. It was part of the German's tune-up for the World Cup finals in England July 11-30.

The game was played throughout in heavy rain.

Liverpool was the stronger and laid siege to the Borussia goal during the first 15 minutes of extra time but just when the English team seemed on the verge of victory, Borussia struck with decisive power.

The European Cup Winners' Cup is for teams which have won their country's national cup competition. It ranks second only to the European Cup, for winners of national league championships.

Umpire Hangs Self Cricketers Disband

HALSE, England (Reuters) — Village cricket umpire Geoffrey Greenslade committed suicide following an argument with players over one of his decisions, a coroner's court was told Wednesday.

Greenslade, 35, called a batsman out in an inter-village match Saturday in this western England community. An argument ensued.

Later, the umpire was found hanging in his garage.

The local cricket club, meanwhile, has decided to sell its equipment and disband.

Alabama Vote Challenged

SELMA, Ala. (UPI)—Local officials Thursday threw out six boxes of predominantly Negro votes that could have beaten segregationist sheriff Jim Clark, spurring the Justice Department to file suit to have Wilson Baker declared the primary winner.

The local action was taken during a meeting of the county Democratic executive committee.

Without the votes Baker, Selma's former public safety director, would have won a plurality, but not a majority, and without the majority, he could have had to enter a runoff election with Clark for the nomination for sheriff.

RIGHTS VIOLATED

The Justice Department filed in U.S. District Court at Mobile charged the decision to throw out the ballots had deprived voters of their rights under the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

It asked that Baker be declared the winner by a majority.

With 74 of Dallas County's 80 boxes counted, Baker, who had received the support of thousands of newly-registered Negroes, had led Clark 7,337 votes to 7,445.

During Selma's racial turmoil last year Clark, in the eyes of Negroes, became the symbol of resistance to their historic Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march—which finally was conducted under the guard of federalized troops.

When the Negroes first attempted the march, which has been credited with hastening the passage of the new federal Voting Rights Bill, Clark had his posse charge into the ranks of the demonstrators with clubs swinging.

'NEGROES LEFT POSTS'

Alvin Keith, head of the committee that threw out the votes, said Negro polling officials were in charge of the three disputed boxes. He said they had left their posts before completing their jobs.

"There were too many discrepancies for us to count any of the six," Keith said. "In one case there were 30 more ballots than voters."

"Our only recourse would have been to call in each voter and ask him how he voted. We do not have the authority to do that."

Keith said he was not "insinuating that because they were Negroes they did not do the job. But they went off to get something to eat and when they came back things were definitely altered.

"You can't do anything right. If we had put whites in the polling places, they would have screamed. So we put in Negroes. It's damned if you do, damned if you don't."

Keith said he doubted Baker could have won the nomination without a runoff.

"There were about 1,600 ballots. He still had to overcome the other two candidates."

The other two were Murphy

F. Suther and Virgil Bates who received about 500 votes each.

While Clark was becoming a symbol of resistance to Negroes in Alabama, Baker, a former criminology professor at the University of Alabama, gained a reputation of fairness.

He frequently talked his way out of tense situations, urging restraint and asking Negroes not to force his hand by violating laws or creating disturbances. When they refused, he would make selected arrests, robbing the Negroes of their leadership, then release those arrested when the situation calmed down.

Areas from which the disputed ballot boxes came had been voting 9 to 1 for Baker, and had this margin held up would have easily won the contest.

Parole Law

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government is considering amendment of Canada's parole laws in the light of the recent Commons debate on capital punishment. Prime Minister Pearson said Thursday.

He was replying in the Commons to Robert Simpson (PC—Churchill), who recalled that although MPs had turned down abolition of capital punishment, there had been a general agreement on the need for parole revisions.

LONGER TERM

At present persons serving life sentences are eligible for parole after 10 years. Convicted murderers may receive parole with the approval of both the cabinet and the National Parole Board.

There have been many suggestions that the minimum prison term for convicted murderers be made longer than 10 years. It is said this change would help prepare the way for abolition of hanging in Canada.

'Middle Course' Kiernan's Idea

British Columbia must follow a middle course between development and preservation of its natural resources, says Recreation and Conservation Minister Kiernan.

He told delegates to the ninth annual convention of the B.C. Wildlife Federation in Prince George Thursday that in the process of developing new policies to meet new conditions, all factors must be appraised.

"It is hardly necessary to point out that we cannot have the economic benefits of the wealth that flows from the use of our natural resources unless we put those resources to work, and of necessity we must accept that change is inevitable," Mr. Kiernan said.

"Recognizing this as the true state of affairs, our efforts are directed primarily to the proposition that by diligence, forethought and co-operation we can enjoy to a large measure the benefits of industrialization and still preserve to an extensive degree the natural attributes of our environment."

The minister said that conservation was only in its beginning, and that "while we cannot have the best of all possible worlds, with reason and effort an acceptable middle course can be found."

Electricians Reject Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.) unanimously rejected terms offered Wednesday by Lenkurt Electric Co., of Canada to wildcat strikers wishing to return to work.

Union Business Manager Art O'Keefe described the terms offered as "vindictive and retaliatory" and said the company is seeking to provoke a "most serious situation."

Extra Tests Turned Down

VANCOUVER (CP)—The provincial health department has refused a request by Coroner Glen McDonald to conduct additional tests to confirm the existence of gangrene spots in a Richmond ditch. The request arose out of an inquest into the death of Diebert Daffan, 17, who died of gangrene infection in a broken leg after being thrown from his motorcycle into a ditch.

Beatles on day they received their OBEs

Hair Is Just a Fad, Dad

Army Jackets, Jeans, Will Go with Tide, Clyde

By WILL GRIMBLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The Beatles will get crew-cuts within the next five years and their squealing teen-age admirers will swap army jackets and jeans for dresses, a leading psychiatrist predicted Thursday.

"It's all a passing fad," said Dr. Vladimir Eliasberg of New York, former president of the American Society of Psychoanalytic Physicians.

Teen-Age Trio Sought

Victoria police were searching last night for three teen-age boys who escaped from the juvenile detention home, Pembroke Road, Wednesday afternoon.

Two boys who escaped with the group were re-captured after four hours of freedom.

FENCE CLEARED

City police said that the five boys climbed over the fence from the home recreation area at about 2 p.m.

A city-wide search was immediately launched and two of the boys were detained at 6 p.m.

Two of the boys still missing are aged 17 and the other 18.

Designer Wins Award

Victorian Thomas Shingles, 3386 Kingsley, was one of two winners of design awards for a centennial medalion.

A former Royal Mint engraver, Mr. Shingles won the award for a front design showing the shield of Canada and the word Canada across the bottom.

Toronto artist Dora de Pedery Hant won the design for the reverse side.

More than 5,000,000 of the red brass medalions will be distributed to school children in June, 1967, to mark the centenary.

Radiology Convention

X-ray specialists from B.C., Washington and Oregon will meet in the Empress Hotel from Friday to Sunday for the Pacific Northwest Radiological Association convention.

More than 250 are expected. Guest speaker will be Dr. Robert Fraser, chief of the department of diagnostic radiology, Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, and Dr. Harold Jacobson, head of the radiological department, Montefiore Hospital, New York City.

Hydro Dormitories To Cost $267,858

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Hydro and Power Authority has awarded a $267,858 contract to Campmobile Manufacturing Ltd., of Vancouver, to build two permanent-type dormitories at Mica Creek, the community established 86 miles north of Revelstoke to accommodate the Mica Dam workforce.

Construction of the dormitories is expected to start immediately and be completed this summer.

The new dormitories will be capable of housing a total of 222 construction workers. Because of limited flat land at Mica Creek, the dormitories will be two storeys high.

Next Victoria Will Be Ownership

New Democratic Party MLA Alex Macdonald charged Thursday that Attorney-General Bonner was "asleep on the job" in subscribers had won a victory feeling that B.C. Telephone in the profit limit ruling handed down Wednesday by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The NDP member for Vancouver East said his party would not be deflected by this decision and that "public ownership of B.C. Tel and immediate rate reductions will be a major issue in the coming election."

ANOTHER JOKER

"Although our rates are about double the Prairie provinces, we are told they might cut back a bit if profits rise even more," said Mr. Macdonald.

"We've been dealt another joker from the same old deck."

HIDDEN PROFITS

He claimed the board's allowable 6.6 per cent return figure was misleading because shareholders' return on capital invested is "running at more than 12 per cent, apart from hidden profits to affiliated companies."

"The board turns a blind eye on identical prices quoted for which are all part of the telephone sets and parts by so-called competing companies," said.

Victoria Diet Beefed Up

Despite a drop in red meat consumption, Victorians still rank as the biggest beef eaters in Canada.

The Meat Packers Council of Canada reports the per capita consumption of red meats in Canada has dropped 2.8 lbs. to a level of 146.3 lbs.

compared to 149.1 in the previous year.

In Victoria, the drop was largely confined to pork, local meat operators said Thursday.

Drop was due to high prices, but now prices have gone down and consumption is going up.

"But in the summer pork consumption generally drops. People don't like to have it around in the hot weather," one butcher said.

"Pork generally seems to be a sort of adjunct to a meat diet. People buy it as a change of pace."

"Victorians, and North Americans in general, are not big consumers of mutton and fancy meats, but you can't beat them for steaks and roast beef."

"They like good, solid meat."

Esquimalt Taxes Drop

Esquimalt residents appear to have found a way to eat their cake and have it, too.

Despite a five per cent increase in wages and salaries

Seat Belts Compulsory In U.K. Next Year

LONDON (Reuters)—Front-seat safety belts are to be made compulsory on all new cars and light vans in Britain. Transport Minister Mrs. Barbara Castle has announced. Draft regulations have been drawn up and are expected to become law early next year.

Impulse Sent Young Chess Player Off Bridge

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 17-year-old boy found dazed, injured and wet on a trail in Vancouver's Stanley Park says he jumped on impulse from the deck of the Lion's Gate Bridge, 200 feet above Burrard Inlet.

Raymond Wiebe, a Grade 11 student, told police he walked out onto the bridge Wednesday night to a lookout platform and jumped.

"He said something came over him and he jumped," said Sgt. Bob Engler of the Vancouver City Police.

SEVERE INJURIES

"He said he doesn't remember anything until he was in the water, struggling to take his clothes off."

Wiebe underwent emergency surgery early this morning, and is reported in fair condition in hospital. He suffered a ruptured spleen, ruptured liver, shock, exposure and abrasions in the fall.

Police were called to the scene by George Kappert, who said he ran down the trail from Stanley Park's Prospect Point after an unidentified man told him someone had jumped from the bridge.

NOT WITH IT

"There was a young fellow lying on the trail—a small scrawny guy," Mr. Kappert said.

"He was dressed only in shorts and socks, and he kept muttering 'I'm cold, I'm cold.' He was conscious and coherent, but he wasn't really with it," Mr. Kappert said. "I asked what happened and he said he'd jumped from the bridge."

BOY WAS BLUE

Mr. Kappert said the boy was huddled on his right side with his knees up to his chin. He was blue and shivering.

The youth's father, Andrew Wiebe, a park board employee, said he was at a bingo game when told of his son's plunge. He rushed to Vancouver General Hospital to see him.

"He was in a lot of pain when I saw him, so I didn't ask him much," Mr. Wiebe said.

He just said: "I'm sorry, dad."

Friends said Mr. Wiebe is a good student and an avid chess player.

In the past, only two people have been known to survive the plunge from the Lions Gate Bridge.

One was Oscar (The Jumping Swede) Erickson, who jumped off the bridge in December,

1938, just for the heck of it, after a drinking spree.

The other was a 23-year-old

Vancouver school teacher,

Elaine Anna Almie, who fell from the bridge in September,

1961, and was found clinging to a ladder on a bridge pier.

ADVANCED SEATING NOW
FROM AMERICAN MOTORS!

You spend a lot of time sitting in the car you drive. Why sit on seats that aren't comfortable? At American Motors, we don't build seats to fit our car... we tailor them to fit the people who ride in them. We offer you the widest range of seating options and extras in the industry... for comfort and safety... your comfort and your safety. Standard and reclining seats, benches and buckets, armrests, consoles and headrests are all available. And to make sure of your total comfort, fine-furniture coil springs go into all our seats in all our models. Advanced seating options and combinations are more examples of years-ahead features American Motors gives you today.

Engineering features that lead the field. Quality that's built into every square inch. That's what American Motors gives you today. See for yourself:

Single Unit Construction. Body and frame on all American Motors cars are welded together into one, single, solid unit for tremendous strength and safety. Result: a stronger, safer, longer-lasting car—a car free from rattles.

Double Safety Brakes. Not just one braking system, but two. If one set ever fails, the other stops you safely. (Double Safety Brakes have been an exclusive feature, at no extra cost, on all our models since 1962. Some other manufacturers have now announced that they will adopt this feature—but not until their 1967 models.)

World's best rustproofing. All our cars get a "bath." They're deep-dipped up to their rooflines in rustproofing compound six separate times. Then they're dipped again in primer and given a separate spray coat of primer. Then come three gleaming coats of Lustre-Gard super enamel. You get a beautiful finish and long-lasting protection from the ravages of rust.

Most powerful standard engines in their classes. Swift, smooth, seven-main-bearing sixes. Powerful, virile V8's. Take your choice.

Widest range of seating options in the industry. Luxurious reclining seats (buckets, if you want). Armrests and adjustable headrests. And fine-furniture coil springs in all our seats in all our models. (Only one other North American car offers this—and it's in the luxury class.)

Fibreglass roofliners and double door seals. A far cry from flimsy fabric roofliners and single door seals. Noise stays out. Drafts, winds, chills can't get in.

Attention to detail. American Motors offers the durability of plastic kick panels, all-metal rear-deck shelves, even ashtrays that roll out on ball bearings. Small details, yes—but they add up to overall quality.

Beautiful luxury fittings. A big, big selection! All the power equipment and features you want. And floor consoles. Thick-cut pile carpeting. Wire wheel discs. Walnut interior paneling. Houndstooth Check fabric. New vinyl patterns. Exciting styling in top-of-the-line Ambassador DPL, Rambler Rogue and Rambler Rebel.

New car quality. We believe that quality is what you build in—not what you add on. We build quality into all our cars from the beginning. We take the time. We take the trouble. We always have. We always will.

Used car quality. The exclusive quality and features that we build into our full line of cars mean that an American Motors used car is a better value and a better buy.

resources, our financial institutions or our news media."

Included among his proposals are:

- Examination of the controversial takeover tax he was forced to withdraw during the uproar following his 1963 budget;

- Reduce annual deficits in current account transactions through such things as a massive exports drive and dramatic improvement in tourist facilities and attractions, and an education program for the business community;

- An industry-by-industry review to increase exports and reduce imports without adding to costs and prices;

- The forcing of "all large companies in Canada" to make full disclosure of the financial details of their operations.

"If government officials and the general public had information about all the larger companies, Canadians might be in a better position to assess the impact these companies have on the Canadian economy," he said.

He pointed out that the companies acts in Canada do not require companies with less than 50 shareholders to make full disclosure.

He discussed in detail the various industries and resources he considered unduly controlled by outsiders. He admitted the United States has not tried to gain control of Canada by financial means.

But he added: "Individual Americans and individual United States corporations have accomplished this to some degree."

"Moreover, they have done it with the encouragement and approval of Canadians themselves, few of whom realized the implications of what was happening."

He admitted some takeovers have improved the management of the companies involved. But he added:

"It is difficult to see any economic advantage to Canada for example, in the takeovers of such companies as Canadian Oil Companies Ltd. or Stedman Brothers Ltd."

"It would be difficult to see any advantage to Canada, if for example, our major steel producers were acquired by foreign interests."

Mr. Gordon warned of the dangers of the development of huge international companies with subsidiaries all over the world.

"While the development of such corporations may have some real advantages, it is clear that those who manage or control them wield great power and influence — it would seem unwise to leave all their decisions unquestioned and unsupervised," he wrote.

He advocated legislation to give the federal government power to review the operations of all corporations that could be described as monopolies or oligopolies.

The government agency would have power to investigate foreign-owned corporations.

"This review should include such matters as pricing policy and profit margins compared with those of other companies."

He suggested a program to help workers displaced through the fast growing technological revolution. Employers, he said, could be required to contribute to an automation compensation fund similar to an unemployment insurance fund.

"This would be used to compensate workers whose jobs were lost and others whose lives were disrupted because of automation or because of other types of occurrences."

Turning to Canadian financial institutions, Mr. Gordon wrote: "I do not believe governments should intervene directly in private-business operations unless the public interest is involved."

"However governments in Canada should do more than they have in the past about supervising our financial institutions."

He suggested the federal government make available deposit insurance to protect depositors using institutions subject to federal supervision. Such insurance could be extended to provincially incorporated financial institutions meeting federal standards.

Mr. Gordon was much more critical of the guidelines on American subsidiaries in Canada than was the present minister, Mitchell Sharp.

"If the decision not to grant Canada full exemption from these guidelines is not modified, our current-account deficit could be increased substantially."

"These new guidelines have changed the rules considerably. They may work to the serious disadvantage of Canada and we should take steps to counteract them."

Mr. Gordon also advocated a reduction of capital cost allowances which he described as "government subsidies for financing the expansion of foreign-owned Canadian subsidiaries."

Law and the Driver

Many motorists are not aware of the clauses of the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act. For their benefit, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce traffic safety committee has prepared a list of traffic regulations with explanations where needed.

Not included are clauses which refer specifically to professional drivers.

Serving on the committee are Arthur Wharm, representing the superintendent of motor vehicles; Kenneth Reid, Victoria traffic engineer, and traffic specialists from all area police departments and the RCMP. Chairman is Cdr. J. M. Leeming.

SECTION 128 (4), (b) and (c)—Yellow at Intersection
When a yellow light alone is exhibited at an intersection by a traffic-control signal, following the exhibition of a green light,

(b) a pedestrian facing the yellow light shall not enter the roadway; and

(c) a pedestrian proceeding across the roadway and facing the yellow light exhibited after he entered the roadway

(i) shall proceed to the sidewalk as quickly as possible; and

(ii) has the right-of-way for that purpose over all vehicles.

Comment

B and C are self-explanatory. However, when a pedestrian has just entered the crosswalk and the light changes to yellow, knowing he will be unable to complete his crossing before the light changes to red, he should out of courtesy and consideration for other traffic return to the sidewalk.

Doukhobors Still Force-Fed

KINGSTON (CP) — Two Sons of Freedom Doukhobor women at the Kingston prison for women Thursday entered the fifth week of a hunger strike although they are being force-fed by a prison doctor.

The women, Mary Malakoff and Mary Astaford, both of Kamloops, B.C., are both in their 50's.

Penitentiary officials said the women are protesting their five-year prison terms for arson. They were admitted to the prison last November.

GOOD CONDITION

A spokesman for the prison said they are being force-fed by tubes through the nasal passages. The feeding is administered by a doctor, who visits the women daily.

Both are reported to be in good condition although they have lost a substantial amount of weight.

Home, Clothes for Fire Victims

Kindness Floods Family

Since an appeal went out for aid, a Brentwood family which lost all its belongings in a fire has been swamped with furniture and clothes.

Mrs. Cecelia Smith, a widow living on the West Saanich Indian Reserve, her five children, her daughter's two children and a niece, lost all their furniture and clothing in a fire which swept through their house April 27.

The Smiths moved into a barely furnished and poorly heated deserted house nearby on the reserve.

It was then that the appeal went out for furniture and clothing.

The department of Indian Affairs, the Red Cross and the St. Vincent de Paul Society and provided a new wardrobe for a number of individuals who each member of the family.

Sunburn Weather Topples City Record

Another weather record fell Thursday, when a 76.6-degree high eclipsed the 1925 mark of 74.8 for May 5. Wednesday's 73 had wiped out a May 4 record that stood for half a century.

Weather forecasters saw the end in sight, however, with a cooler day expected today.

Honorary Gurkha First for Navy

He's the Whistlers' Brother

By JIM BRAHAN

An Esquimalt naval officer recently designed his own integration policy — he became an honorary Gurkha.

While serving as a United Nations observer on the cease-fire line in the India-Pakistan border dispute, Lt.-Cmdr. J. T. Down, 363 Kinvier, was made an honorary member of a Gurkha army unit.

Cheerful Soldiers

"I was associated with the battalion for quite some time and found them to be the most cheerful soldiers I had ever come across," he said. "They seem to be always whistling."

"I thought I would like to join their officers' mess, so I made formal application and a few days later during a brief ceremony I was presented my Kukori by the colonel of the regiment."

Fighting Knife

The Kukori is the fearsome fighting knife of the Gurkha. Lt.-Cmdr. Down said he saw no evidence to support the supposed tradition of the Gurkha — not sheathing the knife until it has drawn blood.

Two Trades

As far as he can determine, he is the only honorary Gurkha in the Royal Canadian Navy.

His wife, Gwen, said that when he left Canada seven months ago he was a sailor, and when he returned home Wednesday he was a soldier, too.

As a UN observer he spent three months with the Indian forces and another three months with the Pakistanis.

"This division of our time was done so we didn't become prejudiced in making our reports," he said.

Few Clashes

Firing was supposed to have stopped last September, he said, but it was not until January this year, when the opponents agreed to pull back to the old cease-fire line set prior to the outbreak of fighting last August, that the harassing fire stopped.

"There were very few actual clashes of troops," he said. "Mostly it was artillery, mortar and machine-gun fire, in the cease-fire violations."

"One side would open up and then the other would retaliate," he said. "There were 14 UN observers stationed along the cease-fire line which ran between Jammu and Kashmir, while the total force of UN observers in India is 46, he said."

"I heard about the starvation taking place in India, but I saw no evidence of it where I was," he said. "I imagine it was taking place in the big cities."

High Temperature

He said he found the country's temperatures, which hovered around the 95-degree mark, very oppressive.

"In the beginning, everything was a new adventure," he observed, "but after going over the same routes repeatedly the adventure began to pall."

The worst experience was trying to live in a mud bunker on the cease-fire line during the rainy season in late January.

Sea of Mud

"The heavy downpours turn the land into a sea of mud, and travel is virtually impossible," he said.

The naval officer said there are lots of pros and cons as to the amount of good the UN observers do in stopping hostilities.

"I like to think the work we did gave the opposing forces the impression that the outside world was interested in their problems," he said.

Holiday

Lt.-Cmdr. Down was one of 10 extra observers sent by the UN last August from Canada.

There were four from each from the army and air force, and two from the RCN.

He said he was looking forward to a month's holidays before taking up an appointment in the ship repair depot at the naval dockyard in Esquimalt.

Groups Urge New Policy

Kindergarten Gap Rapped in Sooke

By NANCY BROWN

Failure to provide kindergartens is causing the Sooke school district to fall behind surrounding school districts.

This was asserted by members of the Sangster Parent-Teacher Association and the Millstream Home and School Association in recent letters to the Sooke school board.

"There are several private kindergartens in the district and this discriminates against the children whose parents can't afford to send them," said Mrs. Marjorie Ennison of the Sangster kindergarten committee.

ONLY BEACH

"People seem to have the idea that if you live out of town, you don't need things like kindergartens or parks. There is nothing for the children to do unless you happen to live near the beach," she said.

The reason for lack of kindergartens was the cost, she added. Kindergartens would probably be provided in the heavily populated districts of Oakwood, Langford and Glen Lake, and it was unlikely the taxpayers in the outlying areas would want to pay.

WRONG END

Harold Banks, principal of Millstream School, said Sooke district was rightfully proud of its new vocational workshops at Belmont High School, but was starting on the wrong end of the scale. First attention should go to the elementary grades.

Institution of kindergartens could only come as a result of a referendum, said Mrs. Isobel Reader of the Sooke school board. The provincial government pays only part of the cost.

ALL SCHOOLS

She noted that Victoria and Saanich had kindergartens only in selected schools.

"This was unfair," she said. "If Sooke does provide kindergartens, it will be in every school."

"This will cost money, and I don't know if the taxpayers are willing to pay the price."

Rodents Need Ticker

"Hey, chief, where's the clock?" is the question for these rats, imported by Wooded Wonderland proprietor Alf Pettersen. Some vandal broke into the Hickory Hickory Dock scene and removed all working parts. Rats arrived Wednesday from Gilroy, Calif., to learn how to run up a clock for their role as mice. — (Ian McKinn)

Advice Abounds From Planners

Every time Ald. Clyde Savage picks up a newspaper he sees the name of a different planning organization — and they're all telling him what to do.

"Just how many of them are there, anyway?" he asked fellow aldermen Thursday at a meeting of city council finance committee.

Well, said City manager Dennis Young, there are two kinds, professional and lay.

"We have city planners, district planners, regional planners and I don't know how many more. I must say I'm getting a little confused," the alderman said.

DELEGATES

Aldermen were considering a letter from the Town Planning Institute of Canada asking that the city sponsor an opening luncheon for the national convention it is to hold in Victoria July 6 to 8. More than 130 delegates are expected.

The question will be referred to the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Committee.

MANY GROUPS

Planning groups in this area include the Capital Improvement District Planning Board, the Victoria Advisory Planning Commission and planning departments in Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay. There is also a capital region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada.

Victoria Rotary president Jack Housez personally planted one bush, and Centennial chairman Lawrence Wallace planted another, watched by several dozen Rotarians.

No Gloom But Some Caution

Building Buoyant

By A. M. MURPHY

With city building permit figures for the first third of 1966 higher than they have been in six years, there is no gloom in the industry in Greater Victoria. Contractors, never a wildly optimistic lot, admit that business is good. At least one of their number, William Campbell of W. Campbell Ltd., says that it is not only good but booming.

"I think it's already a big year, and it should get bigger. House building may be lagging a bit, but all other parts of the industry are forging ahead. I know that our firm is away ahead of 1965—a good year," Mr. Campbell said.

CUTBACK

Bruce Cook, of the housebuilding firm which bears his name, was not so buoyant.

"Money is tight, and while the present market situation is satisfactory, I can see it falling off rather sharply before the summer is out," he said.

"I am afraid that a definite cutback is in the cards for house building," Mr. Cook added.

'OUTSTANDING'

Figures released at City Hall Thursday showed that building permits to the value of $1,658,000 were taken out in April.

"With a total of 1,862 permits issued in the first four months of 1966 a record value of $5,341,452 may forecast an outstanding year," the statement said.

Barn Fire Spreads To Field

Police were called in early today to investigate the cause of a fire which swept through a 100-year-old Saanich barn and then spread into an adjoining field.

Units of Saanich fire brigade were called out at 1:10 a.m. to a farm at the junction of the Patricia Bay Highway and Puchena Road.

Firemen had to contend with a break wind in bringing the flames under control. At one stage more than a dozen small brush fires were burning over the field.

Traffic on the highway was diverted over West Saanich Road and Pipe Line road.

Boatman Feared Drowned

A 47-year-old View Royal boatman is missing and presumed drowned in Todd Inlet. Gordon Wellwood, 529 View Royal, left home Wednesday night to work on his boat which was anchored offshore from Bamberton Cement private property on the Brentwood side of Saanich Inlet.

Central Saanich police were alerted when he failed to return. After a dinghy used by Mr. Wellwood to get to his boat was found floating up-river Thursday navy divers were called in.

Police found Mr. Wellwood's car on the property adjoining the anchorage.

Emergencies

Please Move To Side

City motorists not surrendering right-of-way to emergency vehicles which have flashing lights and wailing sirens will run the risk of charges, Fire Chief James Allen said Thursday.

Victoria firefighters have received orders to watch for motorists who disobey traffic rules during emergency runs, and take the licence numbers of offending vehicles.

TOO CLOSE

Chief Allen pointed out that as well as motorists not giving right of way they were following too close behind emergency vehicles.

"Motorists are not allowed to follow any fire apparatus within 500 feet," he said.

"We wish people would remember it could be a fire at their home when we are on an emergency run."

Colwood Regional Library Serves View Royal's Forgotten People

By MAUREEN DUFFUS

"This notice," said the president, wistfully, for he had been on a committee trying to remedy the situation.

A slightly bitter laugh swept over the audience, for this was the View Royal PTA, and View Royal is the forgotten pocket of the Victoria library system. Residents are not permitted to borrow from the public library, and there is no bookmobile service.

"But they'll probably let us go and look at their books, anyway," said the president, wistfully, for he had been on a committee trying to remedy the situation.

This was some months ago, and since then View Royal residents have discovered they're not completely unwanted. They now have access to books at Colwood, thanks to the Vancouver Island Regional Library system which permits them to borrow after paying a small non-resident fee.

That's still discrimination, but it is only fifty cents per family per month, a minor cross to bear after being completely without library facilities for so many years.

The small but excellent library at Colwood is one of 20 branches of the system bringing books to smaller cities and rural communities on the Island. Supported by an additional tax in the districts, the system is replacing the Provincial open shelf library which serves readers by mail only.

Colwood branch is not too large, books from the entire system are available on request.

"We encourage these requests," Mrs. Muir says, "because in this way we find out the type of books our readers prefer, and it helps us in building up our stock."

Waiting lists for books are not usually as long as at the larger libraries, and members of the staff are extremely helpful in locating books for readers.

A comparatively large section of the Colwood library is the heavily patronized children's corner, especially welcome to View Royal and other non-residents, whose children had been deprived of library facilities. Circulation of children's books increased from 18,000 to 30,000 between 1963 and 1965. Regardless of statistics, Mrs. Muir and her staff are busier than ever as more and more people join the little library, proving that it is providing a much-needed service.

Once Upon a Time...

... which is the way all good stories begin — and because it's almost Mother's Day and we're feeling nostalgic—we're going to tell you a story about a hat. We hope you'll forgive us if we sound a bit boastful, but after all, this IS a story to be proud of! It started back in 1920 when a clever little lady named Miss Frith (they were formal back in those days!), with a flair for making hats, opened a small millinery shop on Government St. near the Empress. Later on she moved it to Douglas St., our present location. Chances are your own mother bought her hats from Miss Frith... in any case, it wasn't too long before Miss Frith's became a household name in Victoria—THE place to buy smart hats and accessories.

We've grown over the years

Now, 46 years later, Miss Frith's is still a name to conjure with... selling not only beautiful hats and accessories, but just about everything else you can think of to outfit the elegant woman in the latest of fashion. Miss Frith's millinery store was taken over by Helen and Wyn Sinclair in 1959. Before long it started to grow like Topsy—with the largest and most exciting stock of millinery of any store in Western Canada. You may remember, there used to be a butcher store next door; well, in the fall of 1963, this was bought by Miss Frith's, remodelled and joined to our original store when we branched out into fashions as well as millinery. The following year, literally bursting at the seams, we used our back yard to build a big extension to the store, and a lovely mezzanine where we keep all our EXTRA special things. Finally, in 1965, we acquired our own parking lot off Fisgard St.; opened up a side door to our store, and put up a smart striped canopy which you can drive under on drizzly days. There's room for 30 cars on this lot—but in any case, parking's never a problem, what with the large new city car-park on Fisgard St. (for which we'll give you a free parking stamp) as well as numerous 1-hour street meters and many other parking complexes within a two-block area.

Pleasant atmosphere—superlative service

Well, so much for history and externals. Now let's look at what you find in Miss Frith's when you enter our store. First of all there's Atmosphere: it's a friendly place where the customer—be she a teen-ager shopping for her first inexpensive formal, or a dowager prepared to spend important money on fine quality clothes—is treated like a queen! Our salesladies aren't snooty, despite all their training and experience; they pride themselves on giving real, old-fashioned service (the only thing that IS old-fashioned in our store!) And naturally, we stand behind everything we sell. In our philosophy, customer satisfaction is of prime importance. We must admit, in passing, that we've sometimes been accused of having too MUCH merchandise—which admittedly can be a bit overwhelming—but, you see, we're so intent on keeping up with the ever-changing fashion picture that we're getting beautiful new merchandise in every day... in a whole gamut of sizes and price ranges. And our knowledgeable salespeople are there to help you find exactly what you're looking for; a word or two from you is all they need.

A complete ladies' specialty store

As we've already said, our stock of millinery is unequalled. We've hats for every occasion—at prices to suit every budget. From smart, inexpensive hats, to exquisite creations bearing the labels of famous designers. You'll find accessories in the millinery department too. Very fine nylon and Kidtex gloves to match or complement your outfit. All our leather gloves are guaranteed washable. There's a great assortment of scarves, from the inexpensive to the exotic. Hosiery that many Victoria women swear by—like our own "Lady Pamela" nylons, sheer and hard-wearing.

Rebekah Tea

Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1 will hold a tea from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., May 7, in the IOOF Hall, 1323 Douglas Street. There will be a homebaking table and door prize.

Daily Colonist, Victoria 27
Friday, May 6, 1966

Dear Ann Landers: I want to thank you for printing that letter from the man who wondered if males slow down sexually when they get older. I am 46 years old now and your answer was the only sensible information I've read on the subject in a newspaper or anywhere else.

About three years ago I began to slow down and I got pretty worried about it. I was afraid something serious was wrong with me. I sent away for love potions, "sex" vitamins, plus a lot of other phony junk I saw advertised in magazines. I'm ashamed to tell how much money I threw away on stuff that didn't work.

Now that I know I'm normal I've got a lot more pep. I can't thank you enough, Ann Landers, you've been a real friend. — GRATEFUL

Dear Grate: Some men slow down from worrying about slowing down, which is probably what happened to you. I'm glad I could help.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old boy who is just average looking. I don't have anything special going for me, like being big in athletics or anything like that, but whenever I take a girl out a few times she goes nuts over me and I can't shake loose of her.

I hope I don't sound like some kind of an idiot, but honestly I need help. I have liked several girls but don't want to get involved with anybody. When I date a chick three times she acts like we are engaged.

In the last eight months I have tried to break off with four different girls and I'm still getting letters and calls from all of them. What do you suggest? — BIG HEADACHE

Dear Headache: The girls are getting encouragement from somewhere. Sonny Boy. Maybe you come on stronger than you mean to. My advice is to cool it.

Dear Ann Landers: I have two teen-age daughters (16 and 17) who feel that everything in this house is community property. They help themselves to my combs, hair brushes, hair rollers, stockings, panties and bras. It's always the same excuse — they can't find theirs or they didn't get around to doing the hand laundry.

When I raise the roof, my husband says, "Is a pair of stockings THAT important?" The girls smirk and I wind up looking silly.

If I'm wrong, please tell me and I'll never complain again. If he is wrong, say so and maybe with you behind me I can hang on to what belongs to me.

NOTHING TO CALL MY OWN
Dear Nothing To Call: Girls do not suddenly — at age 16 and 17 — confiscate mother's property. They have been helping themselves to your things since early childhood — and getting away with it.

The time to teach kids about mine and thine is when they learn to talk. If discipline had been administered from the start you would not be having the problem now. And I must concede that dad hasn't helped much.

If you mean business tell your daughters that the next one who helps herself to your things loses all privileges for one full week. If you make it stick your problem is solved.

White Cross Centre Plans Tea and Sale

"Open House" will be held on Saturday, May 7, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the White Cross Centre, 2315 Lee Avenue, Victoria Branch, Canadian Mental Health Association. Tea will be served and there will be a sale of sewing and handicrafts made by members of the White Cross Centre.

Proceeds of the sale will be designated for the purchase of more materials to be used in the handicraft program and other activities.

Mrs. C. Gilles and Mrs. D. Adams are in charge of the sewing table. The bake table is convened by Mrs. E. Faulkner and Mrs. Y. Raper, and Mrs. O. Munnings is supervising the handicraft display. Mrs. Jean Brown is in charge of arrangements for the afternoon. Tea will be served by Mrs. L. Nankivell, Mrs. G. Mitchell, Mrs. L. Weaver and Mrs. M. Nickolchuk.

College Principal Kills Closing Rumor

28 Daily Colonist, Victoria
Friday, May 6, 1966

Rumors of closing of St. Louis College, Victoria's Roman Catholic secondary school, were quashed Thursday by the principal, Brother John B. Clarkson. The rumors had said the college would be closing in the near future because of financial difficulties.

"I don't know where these rumors started, but they are entirely untrue. There is no danger of the school closing," Brother Clarkson said.

"The school will continue exactly as it has done."

The International Woodworkers of America (IWA) will take immediate steps to conduct a strike vote in its dispute with Coast Lumber operators, regional chairman Jack Moore of Vancouver said Thursday.

Officers of Victoria Local 1-18 meet Saturday to discuss the strike vote and consider calling a mass meeting of members later in the month.

"We have not made a decision yet," said secretary E. D. W. Haw.

In the Alberni Valley, a mass meeting for Sunday and a strike vote before May 25 have been announced for 4,300 IWA members.

Maurice Corbell, secretary of

Campaign Goes Home

Most of the 4,300 members of the local work in MacMillan and Bloedel plants in the Alberni Valley area and in woods operations.

This year the IWA is carrying its campaign for higher wages into the home, in the Alberni.

A four-page brochure aimed at the wives of workers outlining needs and reasons for higher pay and asking the women to back the men in their demands has been delivered to homes.

Neatly inserted is a "fact-sheet" comparing prices on common food items from March 1964, date of last raise, to March 1966.

The sheet shows the per centage increase in food costs.

In addition the executive of IWA Local 1-18 has set itself up as a special committee to investigate additional costs which

More Meetings 'Futile'

A forest industry spokesman said the industry would not stand in the way of the strike vote by requesting government supervision.

"We don't want a strike," said John M. Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., "but if the union needs a strike vote before it will bargain for a new contract, let them take the vote so that we can get down to business."

"From the first day we opened negotiations on March 15, the IWA made it perfectly clear it was going to take a strike vote before it attempted any serious bargaining," Mr. Billings said.

He said that in view of this, a resumption of meetings would be futile until the union took its strike vote.

He said the industry had the right to demand a government-supervised strike vote, but it would not. He said the industry would let the IWA run its own

Practical Courses Stressed At City's New Adult Centre

A new concept in adult education will start this September when the Greater Victoria School Board opens its Institute of Adult Studies on the Lansdowne campus of the University of Victoria.

The institute will offer special new courses particularly geared at high school graduates who are not planning to go to university, Alan Batey, the newly appointed principal, said Thursday.

"Students taking the post-secondary program will be in a preferential position when it comes to either applying for work or receiving future promotions," he said.

NEW COURSES
"We are wiping the slate clean from any concept of the old traditional courses," he added.

The year-long program will consist of the art of communicating, which includes training of students to think and speak while standing. Rapid reading and comprehension are also included, Mr. Batey said.

Lensmen To Meet In Victoria

Professional photographers from Canada, the U.S. and Europe will display their work in Victoria when the local branch of the Professional Photographers' Association holds the B.C. Centennial Photographic Salon in March, 1967.

The salon will feature displays of historic photos and cameras, some which go back more than 60 years.

Several well-known photographers, in both portrait and illustrative fields, will be judges and lecturers.

Prizes will include special centennial awards, which all Canadian professional photographers may compete for, and several awards for non-Canadian competitors.

"The institute courses will in no way encroach on those given either by the University of Victoria or the proposed vocational school to be built at Burnside and the Trans-Canada Highway," Mr. Batey said.

"We are not aware of any course like it in Canada. Everybody has been going

The principal said registrations for the course would be taken at the institute this August, and the fee would be $250.

This program will be in addition to the regular programs, up to and including Grade 13, offered at the institute.

Oacsakta Greet Clahuksuk

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI—At the Port Alberni Friendship Centre, the Oacsakta and his wife are now on hand throughout the day to greet the Clahuksuk and others who want to see the facilities of the centre.

Translated, this means that Francis Charlie and his wife, Della, active in work of the centre since its inception, are now its permanent host and hostess. And the centre is open daily for use by the teenagers and all others who drop in.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie, of the Ahousat Band, have been residents of the Alberni Valley for the past four years. It was their daughter, Florence, who cut the ribbon last October, when Mayor Hammer officially opened the building.

Strachan Opens Art Show

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN—Culture of a nation is made up of different forms and culture must exist before civilization can be built, Robert Strachan, M.L.A. for Cowichan-Newcastle said Thursday at Duncan.

The opposition leader officially opened the Fifth Annual Spring Show of the Crofton Art Group at the Legion Hall.

The two-day affair which ended Thursday night drew many spectators from the Duncan-Mill Bay-Crofton and Chemainus areas.

It was sponsored by the Junior WA to The King's Daughters' Hospital. Mr. Strachan said the local aspect of art is very important.

"Art has different forms of experience."

"It grows with the community and it changes as a nation changes."

Art group president Mrs. Shirley Henry said about 25 out of 40 members displayed their paintings in different media, pottery, sculptures and wood carvings.

Proceeds from ticket sales are earmarked toward furnishing a four-bed ward and an automatic dishwasher for the new Cowichan District Hospital.

The idea of opening the centre on a full-time basis immediately, without waiting for the appointment of an executive director and the usual full array of white man's complicated files and records, came from Wilfrid Pelletier, coordinator in charge of the native Indian section of the Company of Young Canadians.

Mr. Pelletier and several others of the Young Canadians Group paid a quick visit to the valley last week.

"He will come, see a need, and work on it. If the need changes, he will have to change." Within such a flexible framework, it is hoped to find reference.

PILOT JOBS

"They came to recruit possible volunteers," said Rev. Ed Kemping, chairman of the centre "and they came looking for areas in which to serve."

The Young Canadians are planning pilot projects, he explained, and groups such as the Friendship Centre can ask for a volunteer to help them.

"Mr. Pelletier, who is himself, an Indian, suggested this new approach to operation of the centre," Mr. Kemping went on.

"The Indian people are just as deeply concerned with such widely diversified things as budgets, policing, family planning and other matters as we problems which have plagued the native Indians during their efforts to find a rightful place in city life, Mr. Kemping suggested.

If a volunteer does come from the Company of Young Canadians to assist here, it will not be to work within set terms of reference.

Mr. Frances' title of Oacsakta will be used as a matter of course at the centre, while Clahuksuk is the name chosen for the youth group for its official name. Literally translated change, it means "The Younger Generation."

Mama-San Deserted

By JOSEPH GALLAGHER
United Press International

DA NANG, Viet Nam (UPI) — Sin city east is dead.

The garish neon lights no longer pierce the darkness of the narrow side streets of Da Nang, which once boasted wall-to-wall bars with wall-to-wall girls.

The blaring juke boxes are silenced and the only music you hear is the high-pitched calls of the rag pickers and fish peddlers.

Da Nang's hundreds of lovely Vietnamese bar girls who made an art of chiseling a river of colored water out of lonely GIs and Marines at $1.50 a glass have faded away.

Like moths they follow the bright lights and most of them have fled to Saigon and other cities in Viet Nam which still swing.

Da Nang doesn't swing anymore.

Odds are that it never will swing again.

The hordes of U.S. Marines that once were anxious to plunk down fistfuls of cash to wash the dust of a hundred hot marches out of their parched throats don't come to Sin city east anymore.

They stopped coming on March 10, the day that Da Nang's restless students took to the streets to denounce anyone and everyone who got in their way — and that included the Americans.

At first the mama-sans who run the bars figured the shutdown was a grand opportunity to give their girls a few days off and redecorate their establishments.

For awhile the carpenters and painters worked overtime. Then the pace slowed as the days dragged on without a return to the boomtown business days.

One veteran mama-san stood in the door of her garishly-painted bar this week and looked down the dusty, deserted streets.

U.S. Army Faces Eviction

SAIGON — A Chinese landlord complained Thursday that Uncle Sam is a poor tenant and served eviction papers on Henry Cabot Lodge to get the army out of his hotel.

Truong Binh bought newspaper ads headed: "Why don't you pay your rent?"

The open letter addressed to U.S. Ambassador Lodge claimed that the U.S. military assistance command in Viet Nam hasn't paid any rent on the capital hotel since January, 1965. An American spokesman said the United States would be glad to pay — if it knew whom to pay.

Binh, who owns the hotel building, concluded the open letter with a plea: "Please, Mr. Ambassador, pay me the rent."

A visit to Binh's small home in Saigon's crowded Cholon Chinese suburb produced these facts:

• Binh owns the six-story hotel building that the U.S. military uses as a transient billet housing hundreds of GIs.

• The 1965 rental of roughly $200,000 (by Binh's reckoning) has not been paid.

• Binh has a Vietnamese court order saying that the U.S. should pay the rent to him.

Binh's English-speaking family is a big family. Now we have had no income for over one year. How can we live?

"We said nothing while the case was in court but now we have won and still they don't pay, so we must speak out."

Beauty Advice

"... I have never yet seen a finer method of improving the complexion. Wrinkles are smoothed, dryness is removed, blemishes vanish and the skin often takes on a healthy sun-kissed look." — Extract from a report by Lila Hamilton suggesting the use of the modern discovery found only in "2nd Tins" — It is used as a powder base. Most drug and department stores are now able to obtain supplies of this discovery that uses moisturizing action to help give youthful liveliness to the skin. For the information of readers the moisturizing skin discovery referred to is known as CIP-666 in single strength and CIP-1200 double strength. It is found only in "2nd Tins."

Student Rioters Darken Da Nang

"Maybe they come back next week," she said. "This no damn good. Much trouble. We love much money."

One U.S. Marine officer figured differently.

"Maybe Da Nang liberty will be restored on the 12th of never," he said.

A massive American recreation area is being built out at the base area and the word is that Marines will never get liberty in Da Nang again.

"They're moving the U.S.O. out there, and will build a swimming pool and clubs where the troops can get beer. Everything they need will be supplied right out there," the officer said.

The officer said the recreational area has been in the planning stage for a long time — even before the demonstrations began.

"The demonstrations just meant the program had to be stepped up a bit," he said.

"The main reason for putting Da Nang off limits, of course, is that the influx of free-spending soldiers and marines was tearing hell out of the economy of the town," he said.

"You know, the usual bit — Marines paying 10 times the going price for a cyclo, which made it impossible for a Vietnamese to get a ride," he said.

Although the bars feel the pinch first and worst, the squeeze is on in other areas of Da Nang's economy, too.

Souvenir shops, jewelry stores, leather shops and a thousand street peddlers of cigarette lighters, hammocks, water-color paintings and "feisty" pictures, also are hurting.

Business was so bad on a recent Sunday that the enterprising and well-known jeweler and quick-buck man, Him Chi, even took a day off and went to the beach.

Kim Chi, who among other things rents a fleet of dilapidated jeeps to the foreign press corps, downgraded his usual "business is great" statement to "business not too bad."

Which means business stinks.

'Boarding House' Replaces Cattle Ranges

By CHARLES HILLINGER
The Los Angeles Times

EL CENTRO, Calif. — The richest cattle country in the world today is not the sprawling rangeland of Texas or the Argentine pampas — it's a 100-mile by 60-mile spread here in the southeasternmost corner of California.

Cattle is king in Imperial County, which has the greatest concentration of beef herds on earth.

Imperial County became the nation's leading cattle country only in the past 10 years.

FEED YARDS

And there isn't one herd of range cattle in the entire lush valley. Cowpunchers are strictly in a boarding house operation — fattening animals, preparing them for market.

Last year more than 500,000 animals were fattened in 160 Imperial County feed yards.

Cars, pickups and trucks in Brawley, El Centro, Holtville, Calipatria and Calexico bear bumper stickers proclaiming "Eat Imperial Valley Beef."

'CAPITAL'

Signs promoting Imperial Valley beef crop up in increasing numbers of meat markets across the land as the Imperial County chamber of commerce spends money to build its image as beef capital of the country.

"We only began to discover our potential as the world's greatest cattle feeding center in the mid-1950s," said Claude Finnell, the county's agricultural commissioner, explaining why the valley is a natural for fattening cattle.

"There are two basic reasons. First, our annual rainfall is about two inches a year, about as low as you will find anywhere in the country.

"We don't have the drastic winter weather that causes cattle to lose weight, to burn up a lot of fat trying to keep warm."

MONEY

"The second reason in financing. We have probably the best financial situation in the country in availability of funds, know-how, banking and lending institutions. Our banks are geared to big-type operations. When you're talking about feed yards, you're talking about a lot of money."

Truck loads of cattle roll into Imperial Valley each day from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee and the Dakotas.

Range cattle — eight to 15 months old with weight varying from 300 to 700 pounds — are shipped to the feed yards.

DIETS

Animals remain here 120 to 180 days — each head of beef eating 20 to 25 pounds of grain a day, drinking 12 to 15 gallons of water a day and gaining 2½ to 3 pounds in every 24-hour period.

"All they do is eat and sleep for six months in the feed yards," said Finnell.

More than 100,000 tons of feed grain a year is shipped in from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico. Another 100,000 tons is produced annually in the valley.

GAINS

Net gain in the 500,000 animals few out in 1965 in Imperial Valley represented $60,000,000 plus. Net gain is the difference in price value cattle when brought here and when the animal is taken to the market.

For example, a 500-pound animal at 28 cents a pound would be worth $140. The same animal weighing 1,000 pounds at 28 cents a pound would be worth $280 when ready for market.

BIG BILLS

He feeds his 13,000 cattle 130 tons of grain a day. At $60 a ton, his daily feed bill is about $7,800. "It's a highly competitive, scientific show," La Brucherie said. "We've gone to computers to try to come up with the best possible balanced rations, to learn the prime time of the year to bring animals off the range from various parts of the nation."

"We feel we're having the success we have down here because our feed is more efficient than anywhere else in the country. And because people demand a certain type of beef — young animals with a small amount of fat, well marbled, good conformity and tender."

DEGREES

To be a cowboy in this cow-poking country requires a college degree and experience in one of agriculture's most complex industries.

La Brucherie's feed yard manager, Bob O'Dell, 39, is a graduate of California Polytechnic College. He has a staff of 16, including cowboys who continuously ride his corrals — 11 rows, one-quarter-mile long.

They cull sick animals, move cattle along to various processing pens — dip, dehorn, bathe and brand.

Feed lot operators pay 50 cents a ton for fertilizer to be hauled away. Companies sell the fertilizer at $2 to $2.50 a ton to farmers throughout Southern California.

Ontario Synod

Widen Grounds For Divorce, Say Anglicans

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Huron diocese of the Anglican Church of Canada will ask the Ontario government to broaden ground for divorce.

A resolution to this effect was passed Wednesday by delegates attending the 107th annual diocesan synod.

PREPARATION

The group put equal emphasis, however, on the need for greater preparation for marriage. It said this preparation should begin at an early age and be rooted in the sacramental life of the church.

Another departure from tradition at the three-day meeting which ended Wednesday, was the presence of Bishop G. Emmett Carter of the Roman Catholic diocese of London who disclosed plans for a Catholic synod patterned along Anglican lines.

To address the Roman Catholic ever to the first group, Bishop Carter said his planned synod would be unprecedented in North America — and possibly the world.

WANT LAW EASED

The Anglican resolution asked a committee to "request the civil authorities that the grounds for divorce should be enlarged and that the executive committee be requested to forward specific recommendations as quickly as possible."

However, it said: "We would like to underline the bishop's contention that our basic position is that holy matrimony is a life-long and mutual commitment of one man and one woman."

Monday, Huron Bishop George N. Lutton suggested divorce should be granted to married couples who, after years of serious trial, have turned out to be temperamentally incompatible.

RECOGNITION

After Wednesday's sessions, he said in an interview he expected the Roman Catholic Church would recognize Anglican orders within five years.

"This will be the first step towards union of the two communions," he said.

TEEN-AGERS

Rev. L. F. Harding of London, provincial chaplain of the Anglican Young People's Association, told the delegates the church's work among teen-agers is "despicable."

He said many young people would like to participate in the redundant organization of indifferent people with old manners and old ways.

Archdeacon Alford Abraham of Sarnia criticized the church's new Sunday school curriculum as being almost completely lacking in Christian doctrine.

RADICAL

He said it was being drawn up by young men with radical ideas.

The curriculum was defeated by Rev. John Morden, principal of Huron College here, who said it would be in use when those of other denominations have died.

Economy Worries Johnson, Chamber

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson said Wednesday that "disquieting signs are beginning to appear" in the economy and ordered a thorough review of government policies aimed at preventing inflation.

Johnson met at the White House with his reactivated labor-management advisory committee while the U.S. Chamber of Commerce formally called for a quick end to one of those policies — the voluntary restraints on overseas investments.

Delegates to the chamber's annual meeting unanimously adopted a resolution urging Johnson against expecting business to curtail investment plans abroad "for a protracted period."

The businessmen also voted overwhelmingly against raising taxes to head off inflation. They said the government should cut spending instead.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT

How did you make out with your Colanist free seeds of the Amaranthus? I'd be most interested to hear how long it took for the seeds to come up, as my own batch of seedlings really surprised me.

According to the book, Amaranthus seeds are supposed to take anywhere from 10 days to two weeks before the seedlings appear above ground, but some of mine came up in four days.

Sown on March 20, the first little seedling—a red-leaved one—poked its nose through the covering of peat moss on March 24. If you remember, each packet contained a mixture of different kinds of Amaranthus seeds, and it appears the red-leaved kinds come up in a great hurry while the green and yellow-follied types take a little longer. While I don't know for sure, I think these fast-germinating, red-leaved seedlings will probably turn out to be the Tigris of Fire Amaranthus, which is a highly colorful and eye-catching plant.

I have to admit I cheated a bit on my seeds, because I kept the plastic-covered pot under my desk lamp and only a few inches from the electric light bulb. Evidently the warmth from the bulb and the high humidity under the plastic brought the seeds along at high speeds. I have a fine batch of sturdy young plants now, re-potted into individual peat pots, sitting in the sun porch; these should be big enough to plant out around the middle of the month. This desk lamp stunt worked so well with the Amaranthus, I am starting some of the Colanist's free Candytuft seeds the same way, although most of my seeds will be sown directly outdoors this weekend. I am starting just a dozen or so of the seeds indoors to supply me with cut flowers while waiting for the outdoor-started plants to come into bloom.

I am growing a double dose—two packets—of these Giant Hyacinth-flowered Candytuft plants this year, for we never seem to have enough really white flowers in our garden. Neighbors are always scrambling for our white flowers for wedding receptions, church altar decoration and for various social occasions, and we never seem to have enough of the lovely blooms for ourselves.

This year I am raising enough Candytuft plants to fill one whole big flower bed, 30 feet long by five feet wide, principally because such a bold mass of pure white flowers makes a sight of breathtaking loveliness, especially when viewed by moonlight. Standing about 18 inches tall, each plant makes from three to six spikes of bloom, each bloom looking like an overripe tall white hyacinth, so this year we should have enough white flowers no matter how many weddings and showers take place in our neighborhood.

Occasionally I run across a fellow gardener who says he doesn't like white flowers—he claims they remind him of funerals. Yet the white Easter lily is grown and loved far more than any of the colored lilies, and white hyacinths outlast the colored kinds three to one. If you think you have an aversion to white flowers, I urge you to try a bold mass of the Colanist candytufts in your garden; I am sure you will lose your heart to these immaculate white lovelies.

ERMA BOMBECK Tests Shattering Theory

Noise Aid to Study!

The parent racket is getting tougher and tougher these days. As a comparison, to office noise measures 60 decibels, a busy street 70 decibels, and a pneumatic drill 90 decibels. (And don't ask me what decibels are. I'm still working on fractions.)

The last bit of parental wisdom to go down in flames is the one about, "You can't study properly with that radio and-or television blaring in your ears." Dr. John E. Hoffman, University of Southern California, says it isn't so. As a matter of fact, he says, "It may be a sign of intelligence."

To prove his theory, Doctor Hoffman tested 281 pupils while recorded music blared at them with a force of 85 decibels for 30 minutes. As a comparison, to actually feel the beat," Doctor Hoffman said.

I could hardly wait to test his theory. I switched on our washer, started the dryer spinning, plugged in our crazy clock (the one that sounds like a long belch), turned the volume up on the radio, flipped the TV switch and sat down at the typewriter.

It sounded like a Chinese fire drill all right. And I felt a distinct beat. Well, not a beat so much as a creeping pain that settled over my eyes and extended back to the base of my skull. For the want of a better name, I'll call it a headache.

The washer sounded funny... like a 334-funny break-down. My mind switched to television and

I was all set to write Doctor Hoffman about his theory when I read farther down in his report: "Studying in a room full of noise doesn't work for pre-high school students nor for those in college. Only those of superior intelligence in high school. And it certainly doesn't work for adults. I know. I spent eight hours a day for four days giving those tests in all that noise. It almost drove me nuts."

Thank you, Doctor.

'Alice' Defaced

Great works that have come into the public domain should be put into a public trust, to prevent their perversion and vulgarization. This was the first thought that occurred to me while the children were watching a TV special of Alice in Wonderland a few weeks ago.

It was a frightful perversion of that classic book, which has been more widely translated and provided the source of more quotations than any other English work except Shakespeare and the King James Bible.

After 56 years, as you may know, the author's rights run out on a book, and it is then in the "public domain"—which means that anyone can publish it, or mutilate it, without financial penalty or moral responsibility. The book "belongs" to no one.

In many important ways, "Alice" is not a children's book at all, even though it has entertained and fascinated millions of children in the 100 years since it was written.

For, working out of the springs of his unconscious, Lewis Carroll shaped a work of art that has stimulated the thoughts of historians, mathematicians, psychiatrists, educators, and even those few statesmen who have been wise enough to draw political analogies from its pages.

Alice's adventures underground may be read, on one level, as a remarkable exposition of the theory of relativity, long before Einstein came along to validate it scientifically. And psychoanalysts have written lengthy and learned papers on Carroll's anticipation of Freudian symbolism; indeed, the whole book is an amazingly accurate map of the dream-world of the child that never dies within us.

The vagaries of the law, the absurdities of political and military conflicts, the constricting influence of formal education, the false deference that power pays to sentiment (vide, The Walrus and the Carpenter, which is an epic of social hypocrisy)—all these, and more, make "Alice" a never-ending source of intellectual delight and illumination.

Quite apart from these sophisticated elements, however, "Alice" is a great work of art, rich in imagery, gracefully composed, elegantly structured, holding in rare equilibrium the worlds of sensibility and of fantasy. Its perfect tension between opposites, in fact, is the key to its immortality.

Such works should be protected from vandalism as much as a painting or a cathedral. When their copyright expires, they should go into a national trust, and permission should be given to republish only in a true and faithful version. Defacing "Alice" is no less criminal than painting a moustache on the Mona Lisa.

Sick Heil, Sick Heil

By PAUL COATES
From Los Angeles

Maybe it was just another subtle snub, but my invitation didn't arrive until long after the ball was over.

"In honor of the 77th anniversary of the nativity of Adolf Hitler," it read, "you are invited to the first state convention of the American Nazi Party in California, April 22-24."

Among the promised festivities, there was: "A presentation of unit battle colors—a thrilling and exciting ceremony in the spirit of Nuremberg, followed by a toast to the flaming spirit of Adolf Hitler in mead, ancient drink of the Aryans."

After sobering up from that hilarious bacchanal (believe me, Fritz, you start belting mead beneath a full moon in a Black Forest glen and I'll knock your pins from under you), the troops were scheduled to move on to the serious business of study hours and leadership.

These included classes in "crowd psychology," "agitator," "rumor-mongering," and "role of the motorcycle gangs."

There was even a course in counterpsychiatry—how to get out and stay out of an insane asylum.

Since I didn't make it to the party, I called Lieut. Ralph Forbes, the young shavetail who keeps house in El Monte, Calif., for his father, George Lincoln Rockwell, to ask if it had been a swinging affair.

"Very successful," he assured me. "Excellent turnout."

"Herr Forbes," I said, "tell me about that course on how to stay out of an insane asylum."

"Yes," he replied. "Well, we think that's a very important course for our troopers to take."

"So do I. But why do you?"

"Commander Rockwell," he explained, "was once railroaded into St. Elizabeth's nuthouse for a 90-day observation. We want to keep that from happening again."

"How?"

"Well, every few months Commander Rockwell goes to a head-shrinker and gets a certificate stating that he is sane. He always carries it with him."

"What about the role of motorcycle gangs in your big putsch?" I asked.

"The motorcycle gangs are sympathetic to our views," Forbes said. "They are undisciplined, but they are very useful."

We furnish them with lists of make trouble at our headquarters. They better worry about what's going to happen to their own homes."

"They are very useful," he repeated in a rising voice.

"Sometimes I can't hold them back. We know where all the Commies are, where they live, been unkind."

Young Forbes never mentioned whether he was carrying a certificate of sanity with him. And I didn't ask. It would have been unkind.

Eddie 'Immature'

By ALEX FREEMAN

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Debbie Reynolds was talking about ex-husband Eddie Fisher to another guest at a party thrown by Zsa Zsa Gabor's ex-husband, Herb Hunter. Fisher's frequent friction with former wife Liz Taylor—they often snipe at each other in print—was the topic under discussion. Debbie said, "It's unfortunate that Eddie is so immature. He should forget about his problems with Liz and concentrate on getting himself into a stronger financial position. He's a darling boy, but that isn't enough."

Exclusive: Van Williams, one of the stars of TV's belated Surfside Six, grabbed the plum role of The Green Hornet in that series scheduled for next fall's ABC roster.

Mixed emotions for David Carradine, handsome son of movie old-timer John Carradine. David rocketed to instant Broadway recognition in the hit play, Royal Hunt of the Sun, but his marital life was plummeting downward with equal speed. David and his Donna go to the New York courts as soon as a property settlement is worked out to end their six-year marriage. Daughter Ollivia Miranda, almost four, will stay with mommy, but David gets liberal visitation rights.

Tempering Carradine's sadness over the breakup is his elation at landing the starring role in Shane, a forthcoming pilot based on the famed Alan Ladd western. News of the deal made David so happy that he went out and got loaded, failing to show up for that day's matinee performance of his play.

Fallout

Shelter Survey Planned

Victoria buildings for their qualities as fallout shelters will start in 10 days.

The survey is a long-range project to identify and locate buildings with potential shelter space, estimate their capacity and determine the protection they could provide against radioactive fallout.

All categories of structures will be included if they have an estimated protection factor of 10 or more, and more than 1,000 square feet of floor space.

QUESTIONS

Shelter factors such as ventilation, water, electric power and space above and below ground will be recorded.

The survey has been arranged so that a minimum number of questions will be asked and no inconvenience caused to building occupants.

About 30 University of Victoria students will be used in the survey.

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (UPI) — "Be kind to animals week" should be changed to "be kind to dog catchers week," according to one dog catcher here.

Sheriff's deputies intervened and the woman and dog catcher sought battery complaints against each other. But the district attorney's office, unable to straighten out the pair's conflicting stories, decided not to put the bite on either party and refused to issue the complaints.

Greater Time Loss

Work Stoppages Up in March

There were more work stoppages in Canada in March than in the previous month, with more workers involved and a greater time loss.

According to a preliminary summary of strikes and lock-outs released by Labor Minister John R. Nicholson, there were 90 stoppages in March. Eight of these were in British Columbia.

Stoppages involved 30,070

workers and a time loss of 354,250 man-days, compared with 16 stoppages in February with 18,400 workers involved and a time loss of 237,920 man-days.

As well as the eight stoppages in B.C. there were 39 in Ontario, 25 in Quebec, six in Nova Scotia, three in New Brunswick, two in Newfoundland, two in Saskatchewan and one in Alberta.

Macdonald Indicts Insurance Industry

Too Many Firms, No Competition

SPCA Official Resigns

Animal Sale Proposal Brings Howls

Any howling coming from SPCA premises at the moment is from anguished members of the humane group and not from forlorn pooches serenading the moon.

North Cowichan Coun. George Whittaker put himself in the dog house and had the SPCA brass lunging on their chains when he suggested Wednesday that animal shelters should dispose of unwanted pets by offering them to laboratories.

When Duncan SPCA president Mary Waldon said "we are working on selling animals for research now," Commander F. J. Jones, the provincial SPCA's executive director, and provincial president Cameron Webster issued policy statements condemning her attitude.

Cmdr. Jones wired Miss Waldon and Coun. Whittaker. "Geeve Donald Morton saying 'our constitution forbids relinquishing of live and dead animals... If Coun. Whittaker was reported correctly, it will be a black day when we must rely upon sale of animals for medical research under present conditions.'"

The commander concluded "any wrong statements of society's policy could lead to censure by the executive body." Miss Waldon did not wait to chew this bone of contention. She resigned Wednesday night.

"It's our uncompromising view," said provincial president Webster, "that no group of persons engaged in the care of stray animals can enjoy public confidence in its work if it subsequently hands over alive or dead those animals, free or for money, for medical research."

He added that each provincial humane society in Canada is considering the problem of live animal experiments but predicted it would be years before any report is brought in.

British Columbia's present automobile insurance industry is wasteful, costly, non-competitive and inefficient, New Democratic Party MLA Alex Macdonald said Thursday.

In a brief to the Royal Commission on car insurance, he said the 209 companies selling car insurance in B.C. all claim to be "losing money year after year."

MERCY KILLING
If this was indeed the case, he said, "euthanasia would be a kindness."

Mr. Macdonald said competition among companies on their premium rates "may well be doubled."

COLLABORATION

He quoted from a report by the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission in May, 1960, which stated there "seems little doubt" B.C. insurance conference companies and the B.C. Underwriters' Association were in collaboration.

The report said the two organizations thus substantially reduced the price competition on automobile insurance available to car owners.

PRICE-FIXING

Mr. Macdonald also pointed out that a special committee of the Alberta legislature recommended on April 14 the Canadian Underwriters' Association be reported to the director of the Federal Combines Act for price-fixing.

BLAST ENDS BLOCK

OTTAWA (CP) — After a blockade of a year and a half, New Democrats allowed second reading in the Commons, Thursday, of a bill to incorporate an American-controlled insurance company. The bill, which would incorporate Aetna Casualty Co. of Canada with a head office in Toronto to do business in all types of insurance except life insurance.

Four NDP members lashed the private insurance business as a monopolistic, profit-making field that withdraws money from Canadians with little return on the investment.

Colin Cameron (Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands) said most insurance companies are parasites on our economy "who funnel investment money and profits into the United States."

Incorporations of insurance companies must be approved by Parliament under a provision of the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act.

BOMB IN DESK RIPS FACTORY

MONTREAL (CP) — A 63-year-old woman was killed and eight other persons were injured — three floor of a shoe factory in east end Montreal Thursday, severely — when an explosion ripped through the ground.

A spokesman for the Montreal police said the explosion definitely was caused by a time bomb, made up of four sticks of dynamite.

The spokesman said the bomb was placed in a desk drawer and probably was intended to go off when no one was in the office.

The explosion came at lunch-time, while many of the firm's employees were out of the factory.

The body of Therese Morin, 63, a clerk, was found beneath the rubble.

The shoe factory, run by H.

B. Grenade Ltee., has been the scene of incidents connected with a labor dispute for the last year. A strike of 120 employees called April 25, 1965, still is under way.

The firm is owned by a father and five sons. Two of the sons, Henri and Andre la Grenade, were among the seriously injured.

The four persons seriously injured had just re-entered the office after lunch when the blast occurred.

Four others were on their way in. They were blown flat and suffered shock.

Chinese N-Blast 'In Days'

Hasegawa based his prediction on weather conditions in the vicinity of Lake Lop Nor, the probable test site.

'Brady Killer' —Judge

By JOHN CHADWICK

CHESTER, England (Reuters) — The Judge told a murder court here Thursday night there was the clearest evidence that 28-year-old clerk Ian Brady struck with an axe and strangled a youth in his home in a premeditated killing.

Judge Fenton Atkinson addressed the 12-man jury as the three-week trial of Brady, and his blonde mistress Myra Hindley, 23, neared its end.

LONELY MOOR

Both were accused of three murders.

They pleaded not guilty of murdering the youth, Edward Evans, 17, and John Kilbride, 12, and Lesley Ann Downey, 10. The two children were found buried on a lonely moor near Brady's home at Hyde, Manchester. Judge Fenton said:

"If—and I underline the word if—what the prosecution says is right, you are dealing here with two sadistic killers of the utmost depravity."

FAIR TRIAL

The judge said the pair had a fair trial and must get a just verdict, unswayed by the strong emotions the "horrible" case aroused throughout Britain. He told the jury to return their verdict solely on the evidence. But he added:

"You must set aside any idea that Brady or Hindley are mentally abnormal and not responsible for their actions."

Germans Ousted, Ghanaians Stuck

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany said Thursday it had forbidden more than 350 Ghanaian students and members of a Ghana trade mission to leave Germany in the aftermath of the overthrow of president Kwame Nkrumah.

Ernst-Otto Schwabe, spokesman for the East German foreign ministry, said the Communists were preventing the Ghanaians from returning to the west in retaliation against the new regime in Accra for expelling an East German trade mission in Ghana.

"We regret... that through the arbitrary measures of the Ghanaian authorities we have been forced to take correspondent steps against Ghanaian citizens... and prevent their leaving," Schwabe said.

He said the "responsibility... lies fully and entirely" with the new government of the African republic.

Ghanaian trade mission director James Mensa-Bonsu said there was no restrictions on the movements of Ghanaians within East Germany. "We are just not allowed to go to the west—not even West Berlin."

Sharp Claims Door Closed

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp asserted Thursday that Canada will not serve as a "back door" for any U.S. companies seeking trade with China and Cuba.

Sharp, who negotiated a 1963 trade agreement that resulted in the sale of over $500,000,000 worth of wheat to the Soviet Union, made that remark at a press conference here.

GM Shocks Detroit Cuts Car Production

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. auto industry was jolted Thursday by a drop in April sales and announcement of a production cutback at General Motors, the world's largest automaker.

Some industry sources were quick to blame the drop on bad publicity resulting from the auto safety issue.

GM's brief announcement said four of its 23 assembly plants worked short time this week "to get production schedules in line with current stocks in the field."

It was the first time in five years GM slowed its production pace for inventory reasons.

There had been previous slowdowns or shutdowns in various GM units, but these were due to supplier strikes or a railway strike.

Disclosure that three GM plants—Chevrolet in Ypsilanti, Mich., and Van Nuys, Calif., and a GM assembly plant in South Gate, Calif.—worked only three days this week, while an Atlanta, Ga., plant was on four days, came as a surprise to the rest of the industry.

REGULAR WEEK

American Motors has been plagued by such shutdowns in recent months but it worked a regular five-day week this time while GM was having difficulties. Chrysler was on a five day week and Ford had 10 of its 17 assembly plants listed for overtime work this Saturday.

NO OVERTIME

General Motors of Canada Ltd. said at Oshawa, Ont., Thursday it is not planning to institute shortened work weeks to match a move announced by its parent company.

A spokesman said, however, its assembly lines have not been working on overtime recently.

GM's Canadian car production this year to April 30 declined to 113,496 units from 143,953 in the similar 1965 period.

GM spokesmen here said there was no indication whether the short work-week would be repeated next week. Under terms of its contract with the United Auto Workers, the com-

Gordon Issues Sharp Challenge

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A manifesto of economic nationalism advocating close government inspection of foreign subsidiaries in Canada and a "stiff business take-over tax," has been written by former finance minister Walter Gordon.

Mr. Gordon contends Canada A Choice For Canada — will be on the bookstand Saturday.

Mr. Gordon contends Canada is fast becoming a satellite of the United States. If the process continues, it will mean doom for the nation.

He has harsh words for the "defeatists" who issue the "persuasive and insidious"

views that economic union with the United States is inevitable. "In my view complete economic union with the United States would be a disaster for Canada. We would be swallowed up..."

"In the kind of circumstances that would be created as a result of economic union, it is highly unlikely that Canada would continue to exist for very long in any real sense as an independent political unity."

Mr. Gordon stated his main theme early in the book: "It is in our best interests to make sure the United States does not acquire an overwhelming control over our industry, our

Canada Oiling Gate?

By DAVE MCINTOSH
OTTAWA (CPI) — Canada and some of its friends already are discussing informally what to do about the question of Communist Chinese membership in the United Nations when it comes up at the UN General Assembly this fall.

Such consultations are normal but this year, diplomatic quarters say, the circumstances are slightly different: The lively internal debate on China in the U.S. administration. This may leave some room for manoeuvres on the problem.

Last year, the UN vote on admitting Red China was 47 to 47 with 20 abstentions. Canada was among those against China's entry.

UNACCEPTABLE
External Affairs Minister Martin said at the time that China had set an unacceptable price for entry to the UN: The expulsion of Nationalist China and thus loss of representation in the UN for the 12,000,000 people of Formosa.

But Mr. Martin added that it was hoped that some means might be found before the 1956 meeting of the UN to obtain "further clarification" of Red China's intentions regarding UN membership.

Prime Minister Pearson Tuesday told the Commons:

"There are certain conditions which have to be fulfilled before the membership of any particular country can be approved in the UN. I am thinking now of the government at Peking and I understand discussions are going on at the moment with a view to that matter being considered at the next meeting of the assembly."

NO FAVORITISM
He added that it would be undesirable to take any action "which would establish the rule of the government of Peking over the people of Formosa without their consent."

He and Mr. Martin have thus indicated that the core of Canadian policy is not that Communist China should be kept out of the UN but that Nationalist China should be kept in as the representative of Formosa.

There is some evidence, diplomatic quarters say, that the U.S. is beginning to take the same position and to encourage more contacts with China, as Canada has done.

DEBATE
Mr. Martin has been saying for the last two years that China cannot be kept in isolation.

U.S. Vice-President Hubert Humphrey has recently described American policy as "containment, not isolation."

For the first time since 1949, there is an uninhabited debate in the U.S. on China and its policy no longer appears monolithic. Canadian officials are following this debate closely.

Even if the UN votes to admit China, a good possibility is seen here that China would still refuse to accept membership without the UN accepting its conditions. But in this case, the onus would be on China and not on UN members for keeping China out.

U.S. Draft Boosted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. defense department Thursday boosted the draft back up to 26,500 men for July compared to 15,000 in June.

The July quota, all for the army, was nearly 5,000 above the 21,700-man draft in April, but was well below the 31,600 called for May induction.

Financing Stalls Hovertrain

LONDON (LAT) — British work on the hovertrain—a tracked hovercraft which could whisk passengers from London to Glasgow in 1½ hours at speeds of up to 300 mph—has come to an almost complete standstill for lack of funds.

Visitors to the hovershow to be held in Gosport in June will have to be content with a vivid impression of what a hovertrain would be like, provided by a model embodying all the main principles and built by engineers of Hovercraft Development.

Last week the model made its first trip—at 20 mph round a 600-foot loop of track in the garden of a house at Hythe on Southampton Water.

MONEY LACKING

The engineers of Hovercraft Development have all the knowledge they need to build an even more ambitious experimental hovertrain. A stretch of disused railway line is available for the track but neither the ministry of technology nor anybody else has so far been prepared to put up the necessary $1,100,000.

An experimental British hovertrain would be driven by a new kind of electric motor with no moving parts, pioneered by Prof. E. R. Laithwaite of Imperial College.

Under the train are coils which fit over a vertical strip of aluminium laid down the centre of the track and a current passing through the coils propels the car by magnetic forces.

Low Yield Blast Detonated

NEVADA TEST SITE (UPI) — A low yield nuclear device equal to a force of 20,000 tons of TNT or less was detonated underground Thursday. The Atomic Energy Commission said it was the second of three tests scheduled in as many days.

Friday's test was expected to involve a large nuclear device equal to between 20,000 and 200,000 tons of TNT.

The device exploded here Wednesday had a force of less than 20,000 tons of TNT, scientists said.

Instruments indicated that no radiation escaped into the atmosphere.

Little Shavers Plant Tiny Tree

Tree planting can be a serious business, especially when it's a Douglas fir to honor the centennial. Clayton Jack, a Grade 1 pupil at Nanaimo Indian Hospital School, got plenty of help and advice from his straw-boss Joseph Harry, who is two. All schools in B.C. will plant trees to honor centennial.—(Agnes Flett)

Squire Backs Plea for Transport

'It's No Wonder Loggers Fed Up'

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI — "The company won't supply a boat and the government won't supply a road — no wonder these fellows are fed up," said NDP MLA John Squire, commenting on the plight of 22 Indian loggers who are asking for action to get some form of safe, reliable transportation to and from their homes on the Uchelet Reserve to their jobs.

Just back from a trip to the area to consult with the loggers and M & B company officials, Mr. Squire was speaking in a dual capacity as executive member of the IWA, to which the Indian loggers belong, and as their MLA.

"The company has set a precedent of supplying transportation where there are large groups of men in fairly isolated areas," Mr. Squire contended. "If they can supply a crummy (company bus) to the end of the existing road, they should be equally willing to supply a boat until the road can be established."

The present trail the loggers must take was described by Mr. Squire as unlighted, overgrown, boggy in places and "a darn long hike with caulk boots, work clothes, and lunch pails."

The protest by the loggers was interpreted by Mr. Squire as a healthy sign the Indian loggers now feel they have the same rights as other union members.

"They've done their bit. They've gone back and forth for years in makeshift transportation across that rough inlet," Mr. Squire said. "This is just the last straw. They're not asking for welfare or a handout. They pay income tax, same as the rest of the working men, and they pay sales tax on their purchases. They're entitled to some of the benefits for a change. All pay into the Canada Pension Plan, too."

Until the end of the week, the men are being transported by the schoolboat, before and after its regular trips with the school children. But after Monday, they will have to pay a fare for this, Mr. Squire stated.

"It simply means that the man living in the village gets transportation pretty well portal to portal without cost while the Indians on the Reserve are being penalized."

"We object to the use of small boats in that rough water, anyway, especially to transport men in heavy working gear," he said. "It should be a proper boat, with proper life-saving equipment and safety facilities, the same as the school-boat, which they are riding in temporarily."

COMPENSATION

"If the company can supply a crummy, it could supply a boat and the men would then have compensation coverage in case of accident the same as the others."

Chief Councillor Alex McCarthy has written to Highways Minister Gagliardi, and to Wesley Black, provincial secretary, Mr. Squire stated. In addition, the MLA had personally phoned the head of the Indian Advisory Committee and asked him to contact the department of highways to stimulate action.

The road required is little more than three quarters of a mile in length. It would connect the Reserve with present logging roads, and eliminate the three quarter mile journey by sea now required for all who would work, shop or go to school in the village.

The matter has also been taken up with federal government and with the Indian agent in Port Alberni. Mr. Squire says he has been promised some answer from Mr. Black's office by the weekend.

Meantime, at least one logger has a $3,500 car which he stores in Uchelet village and uses for trips down island, since he cannot drive it to his home on the Reserve.

Mr. Sampson said that all plans now under study were in strict conformity with Department of Education specifications — the bare bones with no frills.

He added this austerity might help approval by the department.

Moore Forecasts IWA Strike Vote

The International Woodworkers of America (IWA) will take immediate steps to conduct a strike vote in its dispute with Coast lumber operators, regional chairman Jack Moore of Vancouver said Thursday.

Officers of Victoria Local 1-118 meet Saturday to discuss the strike vote and consider calling a mass meeting of members later in the month. "We have not made a decision yet," said secretary Edwin Haw.

In the Alberni Valley, a mass meeting for Sunday and a strike vote before May 25 have been announced for 4,300 IWA members.

Maurice Corbell, secretary of Local 1-85, said, "We want all members who can possibly attend to be on hand at the Alberni Athletic Hall at 10:30 a.m., Sunday."

"Members will get a first-hand report on recent negotiations from Jack Moore."

Mr. Corbell said, "We will also be holding a strike vote before May 25, after which a government-supervised strike vote will be held."

Campaign Goes Home

Most of the 4,300 members of the local work in MacMillan and Bloedel plants in the Alberni Valley area and in woods operations.

This year the IWA is carrying its campaign for higher wages into the home, in the Alberni.

A four-page brochure aimed at the wives of workers outlining needs and reasons for higher pay and asking the women to back the men in their demands has been delivered to homes.

Neatly inserted is a "fact-sheet" comparing prices on common food items from March 1964, date of last raise, to March 1965.

The sheet shows the percentage increase in food costs. In addition the executive of IWA local 1-85 has set up as a special committee to investigate additional costs which it feels are paid in the Alberni Valley for food in excess of increases in other B.C. areas.

The decision by the IWA to call a strike vote followed an announcement by William Sands, deputy labor minister, that conciliation officer John Sherlock has recommended no conciliation board be appointed in the dispute.

"The gulf between the union and the operators is as wide as at the commencement of bargaining talks," said Mr. Moore. "A solid strike vote is now the best and only way to secure worthwhile negotiations."

The 26,000 Coast lumber workers want a 50 per cent an hour increase on the present base rate of $2.35 an hour. The companies want protection against wildcat strikes written into the contract.

The present contract ends June 15.

More Meetings 'Futile'

A forest industry spokesman said the industry would not stand in the way of the strike vote by requesting government supervision.

"We don't want a strike," said John M. Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., "but if the union needs a strike vote before it will bargain for a new contract, let them take the vote so that we can get down to business."

"From the first day we opened negotiations on March 16, the IWA made it perfectly clear it was going to take a strike vote before it attempted any serious bargaining," Mr. Billings said.

He said that in view of this, a resumption of meetings would be futile until the union took its strike vote.

He said the industry had the right to demand a government-supervised strike vote, but it would not. He said the industry would let the IWA run its own secret ballot in the interest of speeding up negotiations.

Mr. Billings noted that the union claimed that by voting overwhelmingly for a strike, the members were not necessarily endorsing strike action.

"Many members of the union will legitimately wonder why they are voting."

"Usually, union members vote to strike when they reject a proposed settlement, but at this stage the union leaders have negotiated nothing."

"As far as we are concerned, this is a vote in a vacuum," he said.

Blue Flame Puzzling

DUNCAN — North Cowichan Fire Chief Pat Clackson said Thursday an official from the Fire Marshal's office remarked to him before returning to Vancouver the smouldering blaze of a polyethylene ground sheet under Cowichan High School Saturday could have been an accident or an act of mischief.

he ignited a polyethylene sheet with a burning match.

Not visible in daylight once ignited, the plastic burns with a small blue flame at the rate of six inches a minute.

He said while seeing the fire under the school it looked like a lighted city from a plane at night.

The North Cowichan fire brigade had the slowly-burning blaze quickly under control

Chief Clackson said the fire

Fire Hazard Curtails Bush Work

NANAIMO — Woods operations were shut down two hours early Thursday afternoon by Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. at Nanaimo Lakes because of fire hazard.

Loggers were pulled out of the woods at 2:30 p.m. instead of the normal 4:30 p.m. shut-down.

At 5 p.m. there was only 16 per cent humidity at the Lakes Camp with a temperature of 91 degrees.

A company spokesman said workmen will be going back on regular shift today because "it doesn't get bad until late in the day."

Nanaimo Lakes are southwest of here.

Employees of MacMillan and Bloedel were similarly affected at Copper Canyon, near Chemainus, and at the Nanaimo River Camp.

M & B loggers will be on an early shift today.

At Gold River temperatures of 88 and 90 degrees were recorded. Loggers will start work at 5 a.m. today but may go on a 4 a.m. shift if it gets any hotter.

Chamber and Labor

Pool Project Gains Solid Support

PORT ALBERNI — The Alberni District Chamber of Commerce and the Port Alberni District Labor Council have both come out strongly in favor of the latest proposed centennial project in the valley.

The proposed complex, which offers a year-round pool plus an activity centre, has been explained in detail to both the Chamber of Commerce and the Labor Council, and says project chairman, Don Brewster. "We have people ready and able to go out and answer questions at any gathering, whether service clubs, church or community groups, or any other group of interested citizens."

At a meeting sponsored by the Centennial Committee Tuesday, architects drawings of the complex gave those present an opportunity to visualize the multi-purpose centre, and to find answers to questions of cost and purpose.

Although two previous referendums offering the pool and a defeated there appeared to be senior citizens centre were no lack of enthusiasm for the new project.

Mayor Les Hammer maintained it was not right to say the previous referendums had been "overwhelmingly defeated." In both cases, a majority

Friendly Cove Remembers Use for Raisins

Cook Could Have Beaten Ruling

Prior to the Indians being allowed to purchase liquor from government liquor stores they made their own from fruit juice, raisins and other available materials.

When liquor rights were granted the natives, the storekeeper at Friendly Cove was asked not to supply raisins to the Indians because they would now be expected to buy from the government store in Zeballos. After removal of the raisins it was discovered that marmalade made a tasty

brew.

In addition, a seagoing boot-legger has made this village

a port of call for the past 10 or 12 years.

The natives were in a soiling mood when Captain Cook ar-

dently they now have enough wealth to keep the friendly bootlegger in business.

In fact it may have been Captain Cook who started it

natives how to brew spruce beer, which at that time was used by the ships' crew as an antidote to scurvy.

The store at Friendly Cove is now gone, and no doubt, the authorities will have to do something about the boot-legger, but the Indians have studied the art of brewing for many moons and are now

again producing a palatable, though wild, brew.

Nanaimo Offers Unique Training Opportunities

By PETER TAYLOR
NANAIMO — Careers day will be held at the B.C. Vocational school this year, but it has been dusted off and given a new look.
Why bother with careers day Saturday afternoon?
Vice-Principal Ed. Redmond said it will help those now in Grade 10 to be better prepared.

pared to select the courses they need for their future job, or it can point the way ahead for a student who has reached Grade 12.

"Parents and students are not always aware of the facilities available," he said.

Not only does the vocational school help relieve the unemployment situation by offering inexpensive training, it also takes a big strain off industry.

Equipment is becoming more and more complex, and more and more expensive.

An employer is no longer willing to have a $30,000 piece of equipment sit in one corner of his workshop, running at half or quarter capacity while a young worker learns its operation.

A look has been taken at courses in the modern main building, let's go outside and get our hands dirty.

Two unique courses have been running for several years, tire repair and pipe welding. No other school in Canada offers this kind of instruction.

In the tire repair shop students learn to change tires, balance wheels, and carry out section repairs on holes up to three inches in diameter.

Next to the tire repair class is a large workshop, big enough to house 15 or more vehicles at a time.

On one side are the automotive mechanics who start with a four month course and come back every four weeks for the next three years.

On the other side are heavy duty mechanics who follow the same path but start with a six-month course.

Getting car grease smeared over themselves is a popular pastime with most young men, and the automotive course is one of the most sought after in the school.

During their first year the students study engines, standard transmissions, basic electricity and brakes. Second year includes alignment, steering, springs and suspension. Third year comprises electricity and tune-up, and the fourth year automatic transmission.

Employers sign a mutual agreement with students to keep in line with the school's program.

Wally Rasmus, the instructor, said, "We try to instill in the boys a desire to get ahead, we encourage them to keep on learning."

Instructors at the school emphasize continuing education.

Mr. Rasmus encourages the public to bring in cars, because "We can't simulate the industry until the student gets into that car."

Every piece of modern equipment is available for the student to operate, sometimes several different makes that do the same job, so that no device will be foreign to him.

In one corner, where alternators and generators are tested, it looked like a testing centre at Cape Kennedy with its banks of dials and buttons.

Mr. Rasmus admitted the students will probably end up working in a shop not as well equipped as the vocational school's but "at least they know what can be done."

We're trying to change public concepts of garages, some garagemen are dirty in appearance and their shop is dirty. This is not necessary.

"Attitudes and habits are something we really stress, we're after quality over speed, the speed will come," he added.

In pipe welding speed is the important factor.

This was described as a stiff course by instructor Bert Scollon.

Because it's the only school in the country offering this course students are attracted from all over Canada.

"If you're building a 1,000-mile pipeline, speed is the essence, you might work only six months of the year, we like young fellows with lots of 'get-going,' remember the company may want three miles a day."

"It's a real high ball racket," Mr. Scollon said.

As well as pipeline welding, courses are offered in general welding and there is also an upgrading program.

Welds are bent, pulled and broken open to ensure a thorough lesson has been learned before graduation.

Fire Damages

CASTLEGAR (CP) — Firemen here blamed spontaneous combustion for a fire which heavily damaged a garage and 10 motorbikes Wednesday. The fire threatened to spread to a nearby hotel but firemen were able to bring it under control.

Dirt in the weld or overheating of the metal are just two pitfalls for the students.

This has been only a cursory look at the school, certainly not all courses have been reviewed.

There is still the well-known eleven month cook training course, from which students find their way to the Empress Hotel in Victoria or Vancouver's Bayshore Inn.

gram, log scaling, heavy equipment operating, log loading and shovel operating, testify to a truly diversified institution.

Finally the Vocational School offers a program with a long name, basic training for skill development, but its task is simple — to give a man a second chance, taking this course enables him to upgrade himself academically to a grade 10 or 11 level.

There's a staff of 37 day and nine night instructors, waiting to give the provinces working force an opportunity to cope with modern industry.

The school stands on 15 acres and there are plans for another girl's dormitory, another shop, and a third floor to the main building.

On May 7 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. staff members will be waiting to offer a new approach to Careers Day, more personalized and ready to give individual counselling.

SPCA Official Resigns

Animal Sale Proposal Brings Howls

Any howling coming from SPCA premises at the moment is from anguished members of the humane group and not from furling pouches serenading the moon.

North Cowichan Coun. George Whittaker put himself in the dog house and had the SPCA brass lunging on their chains when he suggested Wednesday that animal shelters should dispose of unwanted pets by offering them to laboratories.

When Duncan SPCA president Mary Waldon said "we are working on selling animals for research now," Commander F. J. Jones, the provincial SPCA's executive director, and provincial president Cameron Webster issued policy statements condemning her attitude.

Cmdr. Jones wired Miss Waldon and Coun. Whittaker Reeve Donald Morton saying "our constitution forbids relinquishing of live and dead animals . . . If Coun. Whittaker was reported correctly, it will be a black day when we must rely upon sale of animals for medical research under present conditions."

The commander concluded "any wrong statements of society's policy could lead to censure by the executive body." Miss Waldon did not wait to chew this bone of contention. She resigned Wednesday night.

"It's our uncompromising view," said provincial president Webster, "that no group of persons engaged in the care of stray animals can enjoy public confidence in its work if it subsequently hands over alive or dead those animals, free or for money, for medical research."

He added that each provincial humane society in Canada is considering the problem of live animal experiments but predicted it would be years before any report is brought in.

Security 'First' In Spy Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice Dalton C. Wells said Thursday security comes first when considering what witnesses to call to open hearings of his royal commission into the Spencer affair.

"The security of this country is of more importance than the publicity of this hearing," he said after he opened Vancouver hearings.

The statement was made during clashes with Harry Rankin, lawyer of the estate of Victor G. Spencer, discredited postal clerk and alleged Russian spy, who died last month.

DISCLOSURE
The judge rejected Mr. Rankin's request that witnesses who gave the RCMP information that was submitted in evidence in Ottawa hearings be called. "That would involve disclosure of this country's intelligence methods," he replied.

The transcript also contained a statement which the RCMP said was given by Spencer. Mr. Justice Wells said at one stage he assumed that Mr. Rankin accepted the statement because he refused to cross-examine an RCMP witness who said he took it.

SHADOWED
During the afternoon session, Cpl. K. E. Hollas, formerly of Nelson, B.C., detailed how the RCMP—in two unmarked police cars—had shadowed Spencer in 1961 on a trip through the interior of B.C. and into Alberta along part of the route of the Trans Mountain oil pipeline which feeds oil from the Peace

British Columbia's present automobile insurance industry is wasteful, costly, non-competitive and inefficient, New Democratic Party MLA Alex Macdonald said Thursday.

In a brief to the Royal Commission on car insurance, he said the 209 companies selling car insurance in B.C. all claim to be "losing money year after year."

MERCY KILLING
If this was indeed the case, he said, "euthanasia would be a kindness."

Mr. Macdonald said competition among companies on their premium rates "may well be doubted."

COLLABORATION
He quoted from a report by the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission in May, 1960, which stated there "seems little doubt" B.C. insurance conference companies and the B.C. Underwriters' Association were in collaboration.

The report said the two organizations thus substantially reduced the price competition on automobile insurance available to car owners.

PRICE-FIXING
Mr. Macdonald also pointed out that a special committee of the Alberta legislature recommended on April 14 the Canadian Underwriters' Association be reported to the director of the Federal Combines Act for price-fixing.

The member urged the commission.

BLAST ENDS BLOCK

OTTAWA (CP)—After a blockade of a year and a half, New Democrats allowed second reading in the Commons, Thursday, of a bill to incorporate an American-controlled insurance company.

The bill, which would incorporate Acta Casualty Co. of Canada with a head office in Toronto to do business in all types of insurance except life insurance.

Four NDP members laced the private insurance business as a monopolistic, proliferating field that withdraws money from Canadians with little return on the investment.

Collin Cameron (Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands) said most insurance companies are "parasites on our economy" who funnel investment money and profits into the United States.

Incorporations of insurance companies must be approved by Parliament under a provision of the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act.

GM Shocks Detroit Cuts Car Production

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP)—The U.S. auto industry was jolted Thursday by a drop in April sales and announcement of a production cutback at General Motors, the world's largest automaker.

Some industry sources were quick to blame the drop on bad publicity resulting from the auto safety issue.

GM's brief announcement said four of its 23 assembly plants worked short time this week "to get production schedules in line with current stocks in the field."

I was the first time in five years GM slowed its production pace for inventory reasons.

There had been previous slowdowns or shutdowns in various GM units, but these were due to supplier strikes or a railway strike.

Disclosure that three GM plants—Chevrolet in Ypsilanti, Mich., and Van Nuys, Calif., and a GM assembly plant in South Gate, Calif.—worked only three days this week, while an Atlanta Ga., plant was on four days, came as a surprise to the rest of the industry.

REGULAR WEEK

American Motors has been plagued by such shutdowns in recent months but it worked a regular five-day week this time. While GM was having difficulties Chrysler was on a five day week and Ford had 10 of its 17 assembly plants listed for overtime work this Saturday.

NO OVERTIME

General Motors of Canada Ltd. said at St. Catharines, Ont., Thursday it is not planning to institute shortened work weeks to match a move announced by its parent company.

A spokesman said, however, its assembly lines have not been working on overtime recently.

GM's Canadian car production this year to April 30 declined to 113,486 units from 143,953 in the similar 1965 period.

GM spokesmen here said there was no indication whether the short work-week would be repeated next week. Under terms of its contract with the United Auto Workers, the company must notify the union by Friday if it plans to put any units on short time next week.

GM's Fisher body and Chevrolet assembly plants at Janesville, Wis., meanwhile, said they would close down one day later this month, probably May 27, to give workers a four-day holiday weekend.

FACTORY BLASTED

MONTREAL (CP)—A 63-year-old woman was killed and eight other persons were injured—three severely—when an explosion ripped through the ground floor of a shoe factory in east end Montreal Thursday.

A spokesman for the Montreal police said the explosion definitely was caused by a time bomb, made up of four sticks of dynamite.

The spokesman said the bomb was placed in a desk drawer and probably was intended to go off when no one was in the office.

The explosion came at lunch time, many of the firm's employees were out of the factory.

The body of Therese Morin, 63, a clerk, was found beneath the rubble.

The shoe factory, run by H.

B. Grenade Ltée., has been the scene of incidents connected with a labor dispute for the last year. A strike of 120 employees called April 25, 1965, still is under way.

The firm is owned by a father and five sons. Two of the sons, Henri and Andre la Grenade, were among the seriously injured.

The four persons seriously injured had just re-entered the office after lunch when the blast occurred.

Four others were on their way in. They were blown flat and suffered shock.

Hatahara based his prediction on weather conditions in the vicinity of Lake Lop Nor, the probable test site.

Germans Ousted, Ghanaians Stuck

BERLIN (UPI)—Communist East Germany said Thursday it had forbidden more than 350 Ghanaian students and members of a Ghana trade mission to leave Germany in the aftermath of the overthrow of president Kwame Nkrumah.

Ernst-Otto Schwabe, spokesman for the East German foreign ministry, said the Communists were preventing the Ghanaians from returning to the west in retaliation against the new regime in Accra for expelling an East German trade mission in Ghana.

"We regret . . . that through the arbitrary measures of the Ghanaian authorities we have been forced to take correspondent steps against Ghanaian citizens . . . and prevent their leaving," Schwabe said.

He said the "responsibility . . . lies fully and entirely" with the new government of the African republic.

Ghanaian trade mission director James Mensa-Bonsu said there was no restriction on the movements of Ghanaians within East Germany. "We are just not allowed to go to the west—not even West Berlin."

Sharp Claims Door Closed

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp asserted Thursday that Canada will not serve as a "back door" for any U.S. companies seeking trade with China and Cuba.

Sharp, who negotiated a 1963 trade agreement that resulted in the sale of over $500,000,000 worth of wheat to the Soviet Union, made that remark at a press conference here.

'Brady Killer' —Judge

By JOHN CHADWICK

CHESTER, England (Reuters)—The judge told a murder court here Thursday night there was the clearest evidence that 28-year-old clerk Ian Brady struck with an axe and strangled a youth in his home in a premeditated killing.

Judge Fenton Atkinson addressed the 12-man jury as the three-week trial of Brady, and his blonde mistress Myra Hindley, 23, neared its end.

LONELY MOOR

Both were accused of three murders.
